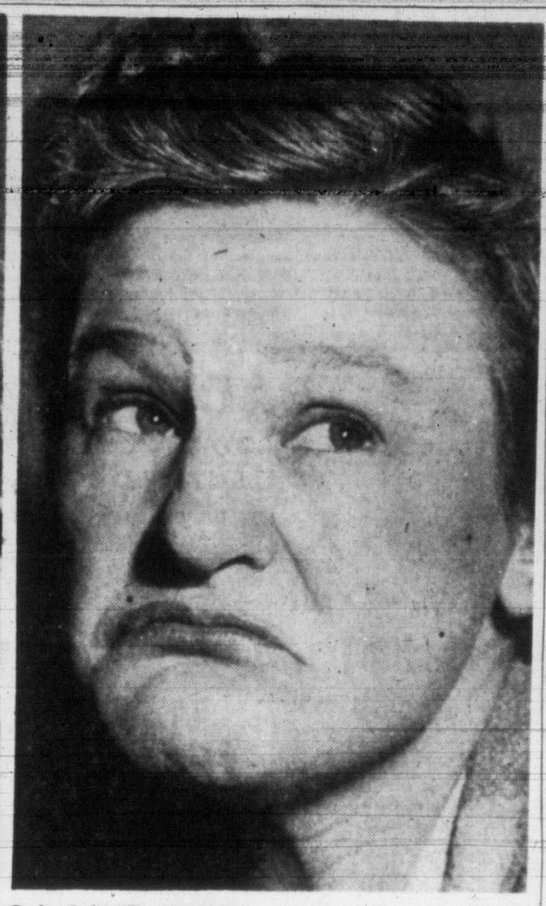
VOL. 121, No. 66  VICTORIA B.C., THURSDAY, MARCH 18, 1954 —26 PAGES PRICE: 7 CENTS SATURDAY, 10 CENTS



'BOO TO YOU, TOO,' SAYS ANNA

The lady with the face, voice, and mind all as flexible as an especially fast-moving brand of quicksilver told her success story to The Times today, and put it all in one short sentence. "Put me in front of an audience or a microphone," comedienne Anna Russell said, happily, "and I'll beat my gums for hours." Sell-out houses from coast-to-coast on her present tour prove that the audiences are delighted to stay put while she chatters, sings, mugs, twists, wiggles, gasps, gulps and giggles.

She'll be doing all that, and probably more as inspiration strikes her, at another SRO gathering in the Royal Theatre tonight.

Miss Russell is that rarity in the comedy field, a comedienne who is completely happy in her line of work. At first meeting, you get the impression her mother was frightened by Gracie Fields. An hour later, you haven't a clue what side has been saying, but you know it was terribly funny. (Times photos by Strickland.)

Yard Probes Notes Threatening Queen

OFFICIALS CONFIRM TOUR CURTAILMENT

BRISBANE, Australia (UP)—Queen Elizabeth's tour of Western Australia will be curtailed drastically because of the poliomyelitis epidemic now raging there, it was announced today.

Full details will not be made known for a few days, but reliable sources said it is certain no one will be permitted to shake hands with the Queen or the Duke of Edinburgh and they will not eat West Australian food. The royal couple will live aboard the liner Gothic rather than ashore. Only a few children will be allowed on the royal routes.

Brisbane turned out en maase to wave good-bye today as the Queen and her party took off for Adelaide at the end of their 10-day visit to Queensland.

Extra Security Measures For Gibraltar Visitation

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON

LONDON (AP)—Britain today ordered fullest security precautions against any terrorist attack on the life of Queen Elizabeth during her state visit to disputed Gibraltar May 10-11.

Letters signed "Falange Espanola" and threatening death for the Queen if she sets foot on Gibraltar soil have been received by British political leaders and newspapers.

Special agents of Scotland Yard and military intelligence have hurried by air to the rock to check on an estimated 8,000 Spaniards who cross the frontier daily from Spain to work.

Most of these workers are known to the authorities, official sources said. Security men have orders to investigate new employees.

Scotland Yard is investigating the letters.

The letters, about 12 in all, were written in red ink and signed "Falange Espanola," apparently intended to mean the Spanish Fascist organization. They were posted in London in the last six days to a number of members of Parliament, including former prime minister Attlee, and at least two London newspapers.

LETTERS SAID HOAX

A Spanish embassy spokesman in London said "we are quite certain that the letters are a hoax. If they were genuine, the signature would have been "Falange Espanola Tradicionalista y de las Jons," Labor Organization for Trade Unions in Spain.

"No Spaniard would have signed it 'Falange Espanola,' which is wrong."

Spain has protested against the Queen's visit to Gibraltar, claiming the rocky outpost guarding the entry to the Mediterranean is rightfully Spanish.

Scotland Yard also is investigating a letter threatening Lady Churchill, wife of the prime minister. It was received at 10 Downing Street earlier this week.

'Hi Louis'

When Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent returned by air to Ottawa Wednesday night from his world tour, 1,000 people were on hand to greet him and the most popular welcome was the one in the above caption. On leaving the RCAF plane St. Laurent draped Hawaiian lei around the neck of his wife while a band played "The Girl I Left Behind Me."

580,000-Member TLC Asks Ottawa For Lotteries

National Labor Body Puts Brief Before Commons Committee Today

OTTAWA (CP)—The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada today repeated demands for a government-sponsored lottery.

The 580,000-member labor organization suggested an amendment to the Criminal Code allowing the federal government to set up a national lottery. The proceeds, after prizes and administration, should be placed in government coffers instead of being used for a specific purpose, the brief added.

The TLC also recommended that labor organizations and service clubs be permitted to hold raffles and draws up to any amount which in the opinion of provincial attorneys-general are reasonable. The criminal law limits to $50 the value of raffle prizes.

The two recommendations were made in a 6,500-word brief prepared for presentation to the Commons-Senate committee on capital and corporal punishment and lotteries.

DON'T WANT RACKETS

Dealing with its proposal for higher prizes for raffles, the brief said: "We would not like to see any change in the law which would allow rackets to develop . . . our affiliated membership, however, desires the change we are recommending in order that responsible voluntary organizations may make greater use of raffles and draws in the raising of money for necessary and useful projects."

"We believe that the widely expressed desire of Canadians to participate in lotteries should be recognized and steps taken which will make it possible for our people to participate in lotteries legally."

Unions Move to Smash City Hall Secrecy

Mass Meeting Planned to Protest 'Fascism' in New Procedure By-Law

By ROY THORSEN, Times Labor Reporter

Charges that "the ugly head of facism" has appeared at Victoria's city hall predominated Wednesday night when a meeting of the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council moved to squash Mayor Claude L. Harrison's move for a "closed door" policy on city council matters.

The council (AFL-TLC) will join hands with the Victoria Labor Council (CCL), the city's other large labor group, and seek the support of other public organizations to stage a mass protest meeting against a "secrecy" by-law proposed by Mayor Harrison.

Some of the delegates favored placing a picket line around the hall immediately. But it was decided to call the mass meeting to obtain a wider expression of opinion.

"Failing any satisfaction there I would be glad to carry a placard in the picket line," commented Percy Rayment, secretary of the Trades and Labor Council.

Victoria Labor Council earlier told aldermen that if they support the by-law the council will go "all-out" to seek their defeat at the next election.

By-law would allow committees to hold meetings in camera, the mayor to "screen" communications and decide whether they should be aired to the public.

COPY TO PRESS

The meeting unanimously endorsed a resolution that all communications from the TLC to the city council in future be duplicated and one of each sent to the press.

Council gave the executive a free hand to organize the mass meeting.

"The by-law sounds like Nazi Germany," said Mr. Rayment.

One delegate thought that in giving the executive a free hand to go ahead in the matter "we should also supply them a couple of hand grenades."

Several members were of the opinion the mayor and council should be recalled. "We've lost confidence in them and should be able to demand that they get out," one said.

Mr. Rayment said that he had looked into the matter, but apparently there was no provision in the Municipal Act which would allow it.

CHANGE NEEDED

"Well, it's about time we had an act with teeth in it so we could get at people we don't want," declared a union delegate.

Victor Midgley, carpenters' delegate, saw the City Council as "an enemy of the people."

He added: "They are a worse enemy than the so-called communists because they're in the driver's seat and can do more harm."

"It is our duty to the public to take a stand in a matter of this importance," said Don Bushell, painters' representative.

"They'll put us under the iron heel as much as they can," he claimed.

One delegate classed aldermen as "running dogs" for the mayor. "When he barks they sit up and do his every bidding."

"When the ugly face of Fascism shows its face around as it is at the City Hall we should take prompt action to kill it," said Bushell.

DEWEY, LODGE, WAGNER ON FANATICS' LIST?

NEW YORK (UP)—Police today set up a tight security guard around United Nations delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., Governor Thomas E. Dewey, and Mayor Robert F. Wagner Jr., after being tipped that fanatic Puerto Rican Nationalists might try to kill them.

The tip came from official sources and said only that members of the same organization which shot up the House of Representatives in Washington March 1 were hatching a plan to kill important persons in New York.

More than 200 policemen were dispatched to Gracie Mansion, home of the mayor, and to the Waldorf Astoria Hotel and the Roosevelt Hotel, where Lodge and Dewey, respectively, were staying.

Fish Boat Radioactive 800 Miles From Blast

Japan Orders All Craft Operating in Area Of Hydrogen Bomb Test to Return to Port

TOKYO (UP)—A Japanese fishing boat, 800 miles from the test site when the United States exploded an earth-rocking hydrogen bomb last March 1, today was discovered to be radioactive.

The Japanese government promptly ordered all fishing craft operating in the Pacific at the time of the tremendous explosion to put into designated segregation ports where ships, men and their catch can be checked for radiation contamination.

Twenty-three Japanese fishermen, burned by a shower of radioactive ash which fell on another fishing boat 80 miles from the Marshall Islands test site, are under medical observation. Two are being given emergency treatment by U.S. and Japanese medical experts for severe burns.

Japanese fish markets are glutted with unsold tuna. Panicky Japanese have refused to buy the sea-food delicacy since the catch of one of the two fishing vessels was found to be dangerously contaminated with radiation poisoning.

WASHINGTON (UP)—Congressional sources said today the United States probably will enlarge the "hazard area" around the Pacific atomic proving grounds to guard against further mishaps.

They said the present prohibited danger zone proved too small in the record-breaking hydrogen blast at Bikini on March 1, and that a far more destructive explosion is scheduled for some time next month.

suggestions that the United States may be "running out of space" to test its hydrogen weapons although they are steadily growing in both destructive power and radiation effects.

McCarthy To Ignore Ike's Plea

CHICAGO (UP) —Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy has defied White House pleas for moderation in congressional investigations and said his critics were trying to be heroes to a "jackal pack" snapping at his heels.

"I don't give a tinker's dam how high or low are the people in either party who are unhappy about our methods," the Wisconsin Republican said of his permanent subcommittee's investigations of Communism.

President Eisenhower Wednesday deplored "unwise investigations" and national hysteria at a Washington news conference.

Red Cross Fund Nears Mid-Mark

A total of $32,696 was collected by the Red Cross in Victoria up to noon today. The figure represents over 45 per cent of the $72,000 quota.

Officials at fund headquarters said many canvassers have delayed turning in their receipts in hope that their collections will make a last-minute spurt which will overtake the objective for a thrilling climax to the month-long campaign.

Canadian Troops Seized By Reds Returned Safely

OTTAWA (BUP) — Defense Minister Brooke Claxton said today two Ontario privates seized by Communists in the neutral zone in Korea Wednesday had been returned to the Canadian lines.

He said the incident was "routine."

"It has happened before," Claxton said.

Ptes. James A. Piercey, 24, of Toronto, and Douglas G. Phillips, 22, of Kitchener, were marched out of the neutral zone Wednesday by a Communist platoon after eight Red soldiers captured them in full view of a Commonwealth division spotters post.

"The men are back in our lines," the defense minister said.

"In that rough country it often happens that patrols get confused."

Trade Move Backed

GENEVA (Reuters) — The United Nations Economic Commission for Europe unanimously approved today a joint British-Russian resolution urging increased East-West trade.

EXPLODING SHELLS, ROCKETS

World's Largest Lighthouse Burns; 110 Years Service

GLASGOW (Reuters) — The Skerryvore lighthouse which guards the Atlantic approaches to the rock-strewn coast of Scotland was destroyed by fire and abandoned Wednesday.

The lighthouse largest in the world, was consumed by flames fed by exploding signal shells and rockets while its three keepers crouched on a narrow ledge praying the 158-foot tower would not collapse on them.

They were rescued after a 12-hour ordeal by a lightship sent to investigate Wednesday night when it was noticed that the famous light was in darkness for the first time in 110 years.

The three keepers, picked up uninjured, said they did not know how the fire began. They fought the flames with extinguishers but it quickly got out of control.

11 BULLET-RIDDLED, MUTILATED

Survivors Blame Arabs For Massacre in Bus

JERUSALEM (UP)—A survivor of the massacre of 11 Israeli bus passengers said today a burst of gunfire caught the bus driver full in the face at a curve on a lonely stretch of road near Beersheba and that attackers then killed and mutilated the helpless passengers.

United Nations investigators conducting an on-the-spot investigation of the shooting were joined by Premier Moshe Sharrett whose government accused Jordan of the crime.

Miriam Lesser, 28, who was wounded, said "15 to 20 Arabs" opened fire on the bus which crashed against a hillside.

"Two men entered the bus firing weapons and pulled up passengers by the hair, turning them over to make sure they were dead and firing bullets into them," the Dutch-born woman said.

Israeli investigators claimed fingers had been cut from the half-naked body of one woman, apparently to get the rings she wore.

Two armed Israeli soldiers were inside the bus. The fact that they failed to draw their revolvers testified to the speed of the assault, Israeli officials said.

One of the soldiers, the second survivor, was suffering shock. Two of the dead were women.

U.N. observers followed bloodhounds toward the border of Jordan about 12 miles away along a trail of footprints from the bus.

SPIRIT WAS WILLING BUT ECTOPLASM WEAK

400 Juliet-Hunting Romeos Find 904-Year Girl Out of this World

By DON BESS

HOLYWELL, Eng. (Reuters) —Just after midnight Wednesday, 400 ghost-hunters waited tensely in the ancient Ferry Boat Inn for a glimpse of Juliet Tewslie, 19, who hanged herself here in 1050 because a young woodcutter jilted her.

At the bar, seven psychic research workers fiddled with the latest ghost-catching gadgets. But the only spirits to materialize were the ones in the bottles.

Juliet's spirit was willing, but her ectoplasm was weak.

Anthony Cornell of the Society for Psychic Research insisted she had made a date with him for just after midnight, and he gave the folks some tense moments. He set up a ouija board—a gadget with letters of the alphabet around its edges. Four believers put their fingers on a wine glass, and, lo, the glass moved to letters, spelling out answers allegedly from the great beyond.

ARITHEMETIC FACULTY

If Juliet was manipulating the glass, it is clear that she flunked arithmetic back in 1050.

"When did you die?" Cornell asked the girl.

"In 552," she said.

She also took an eccentric view of religion.

When Cornell asked, "would you like to be reburied in sacred ground, instead of under the inn?" Juliet firmly said no.

At five minutes to one, Cornell said, "Now do try to materialize for the folks."

"Oh, certainly," Juliet said, brightly. "But could we please put out the lights?"

Everybody shuddered happily in the darkness. After five minutes, the wine glass on the ouija board spelled out, in effect, this communique:

"I'm trying, but I just can't seem to get into shape tonight."

Cornell and his aides draped a white sheet invitingly over a chair and bathed it in ultra violet rays.

Still no Juliet.

At 1.45 a.m. Cornell sadly confessed that it had been a "weak contact." "Too many people in the room," he said.

The ghost hunters went home disappointed. Not so the barkeeper. He couldn't remember such a good night for business.

WEBSTER'S CLASSICS KEEP HIS MEMORY FRESH

H. T. Webster, whose cartoons entertained millions for many years, died last year. But his personal view of life under such captions as "The Timid Soul," "Life's Darkest Moment," "The Thrill That Comes Once in a Lifetime," and many others, will live on in the minds of his fans.

To keep them fresh, the cartoons considered to be his finest have been selected and re-issued in a series known as "Webster Classics." The Times, which carried his cartoons while he was alive, has pleasure in presenting the classic series to its readers, starting today on Page 5.

STOTT in the HOUSE

March 17th Memories—An Erin-Decked Desk

MARCH the 17th used to be a day to remember in the Legislature.

A few years ago the third desk down on Mr. Speaker's right was topped with a pot of shamrock and green carnations. Around it was draped paddy green ribbon. Across the front rested a long-stemmed white clay pipe and in the corner was a tall beribboned Irishman's hat.

Smiling above the decorations and beneath a mane of fine white hair was the face of the Leitrim bhoy, then Premier and Finance Minister John Hart, whom the present Premier calls "that fine British Columbia statesman."

You thought of him yesterday as the House waved a hurried hand at St. Patrick with a few green ties and the occasional lapel decoration.

You were happy to hear from St. Joseph's Hospital that Mr. Hart is making satisfactory progress, that his interest in things is alert and you hoped you'd soon see him around the town again with an infectious grin and a ready word for the hundreds he calls friends.

It was more a day for memories than excitement in the Legislature, although Victoria's Liberal George Gregory had some interesting points to offer on the lack of communication between Victoria members and the Victoria City Hall.

Too Much Secrecy?

Neither he nor, so far as he knew, the other local representatives in the House were getting much co-operation from Mayor Harrison, Mr. Gregory said. The mayor had made no suggestions to him about the Capital City grant nor discussed the amount.

Victoria's Liberal member thought that sum—he wasn't too pleased with the $50,000 in the budget—shouldn't be considered a contribution in lieu of taxes. It ought to be an allowance for the beautification of the capital. With that several members expressed desk-thumping agreement.

And Mr. Gregory thought the money shouldn't be turned over to the mayor. He favored the scheme suggested by the Government that it be administered by a commission—probably three deputy ministers and three citizens of Victoria—who might give first consideration to improving the looks of the marine drive, the property near the Parliament Buildings and Beacon Hill.

You wondered, with Mr. Gregory, how the suggestion would suit the mayor and you couldn't escape the conclusion that this "secrecy" business at the City Hall has probably gone too far.

As it has done with other members, the municipal councillor came out in Mr. Gregory yesterday as he sought more assistance to municipalities. Oak Bay was saying its piece in the Legislature.

Only once did the Victoria Liberal call for blood—the Red Cross needed it in a hurry and the Red Cross would take it from Social Credit, C.C.F., Liberal or Conservative members.

Everything's Lovely

Mr. Alexander Small Matthew, Social Creditor from Vancouver Centre who is deputy speaker and seems delighted with his job, opened the day's speech-making. Addressing the Government, he has that deferential approach of someone walking gently in the presence of angels.

Through his eyes everything seemed lovely in the budget, but he had some good, sound suggestions to make on treatment of alcoholics and efforts to stamp out drug addiction by eliminating the profit from the illegal traffic.

Mr. Matthew spoke earnestly in favor of a hospital at U.B.C. He'd like to call it the King George VI Memorial Hospital or the Queen Elizabeth Hospital. You thought how nice it would be if you could just jack up the name and run the hospital in under it.

The C.C.F's Rae Eddie, who beat "Boss" Johnson in New Westminster, wanted to know what provision would be made for BCHIS employees facing lay-offs and unprotected by unemployment insurance. He thought progressive criticism had helped the hospital scheme to improve and figured it was getting rid of the bugs when it was suddenly changed.

Mr. George Henry Tomlinson, Social Credit, North Vancouver, rounded out the day's speakers. He seemed to establish the atmosphere for his remarks with a little story, told particularly for the press, about Mrs. Lydia Arsens, questionable mushrooms and a dead cat. The Legislature and galleries were completely silent during the telling and completely silent after the story was told, except for an inexplicable murmur: "There's a fungus among us."

And so the House turned to discuss C.C.F. Mr. Frank Howard's motion calling for a special women's bureau in the labor department, for female employees who are steadily gaining equality of the sexes in the working field.

Matthew Asks Drug Clinic Establishment

Stop the Profit, Socred Suggests

Establishment of legal drug clinics in B.C.—on the British pattern—was advocated in the Legislature Wednesday by Alexander S. Matthew, Socred member for Vancouver Centre.

Such clinics, he said, would destroy the profit-motive in drug peddling.

Mr. Matthew was glad to note that prison sentences for drug peddlers in the province were getting more severe. Personally, he thought such people should get life sentences.

"FANTASTIC"

He termed "fantastic" predictions the 2 per cent sales tax increase announced by the government would drive people to purchase across the U.S. border. Travel cost and luxury tax on many items still would be deterrents.

The $5 monthly increase to old-age pensioners he said would far offset their payments under the new 2 per cent tax hike. By his computations, a pensioner would pay "no more than 10 cents" a month above present tax payments.

Per diem ward costs in B.C. were higher than in Alberta, and Mr. Matthew urged that a committee be appointed to study the "why" of this difference and try to drop costs.

The Romans called Scotland "Caledonia."

Wicks Rejects CCF Demand For Working Women's Bureau

The government turned thumbs-down on an Opposition resolution Wednesday urging establishment of a women's bureau in the labor department to deal with employment problems relating to women.

The resolution was moved by Frank Howard (CCF, Skeena). He said as an example of need for such a bureau that women were psychologically different from men, and thus had their own particular problems.

"Where men will pound a table from anger or frustration, women will burst into tears." This caused consternation among foremen, he said.

Women were also more susceptable to some job hazards, such as skin infections and industrial poisons, he said.

CHANGES PLANNED

Labor Minister Lyle Wicks said he was not prepared to accept the resolution because the government planned to consolidate the men's and women's minimum wage acts and, indicated, this would embody some comparable, or at least protective, legislation for women.

Victoria Socred MLA Lydia Arsons said men should not hire women for jobs they couldn't do. She expressed personal surprise at having seen a women bus-driver in Vancouver.

"If a woman takes a job detrimental to her health, she has no reason for being there," she said.

Robert Strachan (CCF, Cowichan-Newcastle), said of the Equal Pay Act that in this respect he wished "it would be more operative and not merely decorative."

Anthony Gargrave (CCF, Mackenzie), said establishment of such a bureau would establish better relationship between government and industry, and the resolution dealt not with the question of equality of women, but of providing for the differences — jobistically — between the sexes.

GREGORY DOUBTS SALES TAX LEGAL

Victoria Member Says Only 3% Allowed Under Original Dominion-Provincial Pact

Grave doubts about the constitutional validity of the proposed 5 per cent sales tax were expressed in the Legislature Wednesday by Victoria's lawyer Liberal MLA, George Gregory.

Under federal-provincial taxations agreements, only a direct 3 per cent levy was allowed. The proposed 2 per cent additional tax in lieu of hospital premiums would give a 5 per cent sales tax.

And much of this would be an indirect tax, said Mr. Gregory, not allowable under Dominion-provincial agreements.

He predicted that if a large company fought the tax and took it to Supreme Court, and judgment favored the company, the province might find itself without a sales tax of any kind, and in "something of a pickle."

MILK PLAN SCORED

Mr. Gregory told the "minister of milk" (Agriculture Minister Kenneth Kiernan), that consumers in Victoria "didn't like him a bit." He added the main reason was milk sold in cardboard containers in Vancouver at 20 cents a quart; in Victoria at 26 cents.

Consumers were not happy with milk prices and neither were producers about milk decontrol, said Mr. Gregory, advocating that "maybe the government had better take a second look" at the decontrol policy.

ISLAND ROADS

He urged "reasonable" public works appropriations for Vancouver Island roads and pointed out that the Island had 20 per cent of all B.C. vehicles, 20 per cent of retail sales, paid 18 per cent of the provincial sales tax . . . yet had less than 10 per cent of the roads.

While expressing favor with proposed Pacific Great Eastern Railway extension into the Peace River block—high on the government's agenda—he said also that the great rich northland of the Island was virtually untouched and that roads should go across and up to the tip.

When the federal government took over old age pension payments in January 1952, $40 for a single person, the provincial government was saved $2,100,000 yearly, he said. With the announced boost in old age pension bonuses from $10 to $15 it was merely a question of the government giving half of the saving back to pensioners, two years later.

Payments to hospitals this year by the government were $5,000,000 more than last year, he said—a 20 per cent jump—and "some explanation should be made."

He was strongly critical of the quick change from hospital premium payments to the tax boost and said he had met with two senior BCHIS officials shortly before the new tax was announced.

They were, said Mr. Gregory, "trying to persuade me the scheme (premiums) was working well, and said, 'don't try and make political capital of something that is just getting on its feet'."

In view of this he wondered if Health Minister Eric Martin had talked over the tax hike with the BCHIS, or if the Premier had talked over ramifications with the minister, or if experts had been consulted before taking the hiked tax stand.

"Make sure you are right," he warned, "before you scrap a system 95 per cent of the people in the province approve."

SOCIALIZATION

He called the tax measure "socialization . . . which even my socialistic friends are not prepared to accept. It horrifies members of the CCF."

Other points made by Mr. Gregory:

Will servicemen and families moved to B.C. be denied hospital coverage for the stipulated year?

Will the government take action to ease the burden of immediate tax payment on young couples purchasing furniture by spreading the tax over the period of time payments?

As a member of the Oak Bay council, he supported Bruce Brown (Liberal, Prince Rupert) who urged tax exemption for municipalities. Mr. Gregory said municipalities were already in a "tough" position financially.

LOSS LEADER INQUIRY SET FOR MAY

OTTAWA (BUP)—The Federal Restrictive Trade Practices Mission plans to start hearings early in May on the practice of selling retail items below cost to lure customers.

The commission announced Wednesday night that the first hearings would be held here and others would be held in major cities across the country if representations indicated that was desirable.

U.S. APPROACHED

Gold Price Hike Asked By Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—The government hopes the United States will increase the price of gold, but has no intention of taking the step itself and becoming the world's banker.

Mines Minister Prudham said Wednesday in the Commons the government is doing "everything possible" to persuade the United States to increase the price of gold. At present, the U.S. pays $35 an ounce in U.S. funds for gold, including the Canadian product. However, because the Canadian dollar is worth more than the U.S. dollar, gold mining companies in Canada, March 6, received only $33.79 in Canadian funds for an ounce of gold.

Increased BCHIS Participation Shown Through Payroll System

More than 418,000 British Columbians were paying hospital insurance in the last six months of 1953, and the hospital insurance service showed a deficit of $1,304,878 for the nine-month period ending last December 31, Health and Welfare Minister Eric Martin reported Wednesday.

Payees increased 40,000 over 1952, accounted for by the drive to increase the numbers on payroll deductions.

Approximately 5,000 firms were registered for payroll deductions which covered 228,000 employees, Mr. Martin told the Legislature.

These facts were brought out when the minister tabled the annual report and answers to questions asked by CCF Opposition Leader Arnold Webster.

As of last February 15, BCHIS had a cash balance of $7,323,795 which was $3,000,000 more than August 1, 1952, when the Social Credit Government took office. However, it was $1,200,000 less than at February 15, 1953.

The sum of $5,038,876 in prepaid premiums will be split among 450,000 persons who paid premiums in advance when premiums are abolished April 1.

The annual report said 230,900 patients, including 27,000 newly-born babies, spent a total of 2,261,548 patient days in hospitals last year.

This meant that approximately one out of every six people in B.C. went to hospital last year for an average stay of 10 days.

Of the total hospitalized, 85 per cent were covered by insurance.

Actual deficit for 1953 will probably not be known for some time, but it is not likely to be more than the $4,000,000 subsidy voted BCHIS at the spring legislature.

BCHIS staff numbered 649 in February, 1952, and dropped to 486 in February this year.

The Yukon Water

TO BUILD THE LARGEST ALUminum plant in the world the Aluminum Company of America is asking Canada to sell part of the waters of the Yukon River. The water thus alienated to a foreign country would be carried by a tunnel through the Panhandle of Alaska to the sea where, near Skagway, the proposed aluminum plant would be built.

This scheme, one of the most imaginative in the history of engineering, raises grave issues of policy for the Governments of Canada and British Columbia, since jointly those Governments control all the Yukon waters. Neither Ottawa nor Victoria can alienate them without the consent of the other.

The starting point of any sound Canadian policy, federal or provincial, is obvious—no waterpower which can be economically used in Canada should be sold to any foreign nation. Thus when the Aluminum Company seeks to divert part of the Yukon to Alaska it must be able to prove that Canada would thus derive benefits not available to it by an all-Canadian scheme.

Is there, in fact, any prospect of an all-Canadian scheme? The Frobisher interests of Canada say that there is. They propose to use a small part of the Yukon to power a smelting plant at tidewater, on Taku Inlet, within Canadian territory. But this plan need not interfere in any way with the Aluminum Company's plan. There is plenty of power in the Yukon system for both.

Nevertheless, no Canadian or British Columbia Government in its senses will alienate any part of the Yukon without making sure that Canada will thus derive definite advantages for itself. The Aluminum Company, in a statement to this newspaper yesterday, accepted this principle without question. It says that if Canada can find a better use for the Yukon, then its application for Yukon water should properly be refused.

What benefits could Canada expect if a part of the Yukon flow were carried by tunnel through the Alaska Panhandle? At first sight, none. The aluminum plant would stand on American soil, it would largely employ American workmen and its money in wages and profits would flow to the United States.

But the Aluminum Company cannot use nearly all the power it would have to develop. In the first stage of its gigantic scheme it would have some 200,000 horsepower in surplus power and this it is willing to carry back over the mountains into the Yukon and British Columbia, where it could be sold to any Canadian industry desiring it.

By enforcible contract, therefore, Canada can secure more power by this method than it can possibly use in the north in the visible future. And if more power is needed by the Aluminum Company or Canada, or both, it can be provided by a further diversion of the Yukon.

Of course the Aluminum Company must pay for any water it uses and the revenue would flow into the British Columbia treasury. The terms of these payments would be negotiated between the company and the Provicial Government. The deal would run for 50 years. At the end of that time Canada could stop the Yukon flowing through the Panhandle and use all its waters elsewhere, if any use could be found for them in Canada.

That is the situation so far as it has been revealed to the public—a Canadian and an American Company contending for the use of the Yukon but perhaps able to come together in some form of partnership and joint use of the river.

Many facts have yet to be disclosed. Mr. Bennett rightly has sought to obtain them at conferences with the two companies. Apparently he has not secured them all yet. Neither his Government nor the Federal Government has all the information it needs to frame a policy.

It is to be hoped that the companies will get together shortly and lay before the two Governments all the engineering facts they have amassed by long investigation. When those facts are known it will be possible for Ottawa and Victoria to judge whether either the American or Canadian scheme, or both, or a combination of them, should go ahead. The paramount concern of both Governments is to see that the resources of Canada are used to the maximum benefit of this country.

Sacrifice Part to Safeguard All?

PROVINCIAL SECRETARY Wesley Black's suggestion that civil defense no doubt has become a permanent part of our daily lives is not a welcome thought. But the state of the world today and the lack of prospects for an early East-West settlement give his words a large measure of credibility.

So much for the general appraisal. But for the great majority of Victorians, in truth, civil defense is not yet, and does not appear likely to become, a part of their daily lives. Beyond reading an occasional news item about a training program, a lecture or an appeal for volunteers, the public as a whole shows little evidence of recognizing either the need or the existence of civil defense.

In its potential dangers that is an unfortunate response. But as a way of life it has much to recommend it. Many a citizen who would willingly man a gun in war time has no intention of spending in peacetime even one night a week or a month under a tin helmet, equipping himself for possible emergency. That is the dilemma of the civil defense officials, and it could become the dilemma of the country.

The public frame of mind is a delicate phenomenon. Only a slight difference of temperament distinguishes the man whose interests are gardening, golf, his family, his home workshop or just sitting at ease, from the man who enjoys putting on an armband and hustling to a meeting to organize his neighbors for war duty right in his hometown.

The civilian-minded neighbor is perhaps a more comfortale acquaintance to have. But it is hard to escape a suspicion that his ease of mind and indulgence in the joys of living are basically dependent on the impulse to duty felt by his more military-minded fellow-townsman.

Canadians fight well in war; the pages of history prove that. But, like other peoples, they do not like to be reminded of war when there is not one actually in progress.

The problem boils down to the question: is there a war in progress? And the answer cannot be clear-cut either way. This country is not officially at war with any other nation. But there can be no dodging the fact that the world is not in a "normal" state—we are engaged in a twentieth century ideological struggle which is as close to warfare as one can get without shooting.

Does this state then call for civil defense measures in this part of the globe? The opinion of most military leaders is affirmative, but the reluctance of the public to have anything to do with it indicates that belief is not widely held.

Only time will show who is right—whether it is better to sacrifice a portion of our peace-loving, easy-going system of living for a measure of preparation in order to be ready to defend the essentials of that system. But the victory in debate may prove a hollow one; modern war leaves little time for a second chance.

Who Holds Mortgages?

AS REPORTED BY THE CANAdian Press, Mr. Solon Low, leader of the Social Credit party, urges Parliament to provide some sort of stay on mortgage foreclosures and thus protect temporarily straitened householders.

Mr. Low's sympathy with the poor is commendable. But how does he propose to prevent the foreclosure of mortgages?

A mortgage is a debt like any other. The man who invests his money in a mortgage has no security but the property involved. Not only a few wealthy people but millions of ordinary Canadians, whether they know it or not, have invested their money in mortgages through the life insurance companies and presently will invest still more through the banks.

Every politician in the country is saying that Canada needs more houses, provided by mortgage money, private or public. How can we expect individual investors, or collective investors through the state or corporations, to put their money into mortgages if, without notice, their investment may be imperilled by a moratorium?

No one suggests that government or corporate bonds, or private debts for that matter, should be canceled or postponed at the convenience of the borrower. The investor in mortgages has an equal right to protection. We cannot safely discriminate between debtors.

If the state proposed to introduce a moratorium hardly another dollar would go into housing by way of mortgages. Unemployment cannot be safely treated in any such fashion, for the drying up of investment would only increase it. The cure for unemployment is to keep the national economy prosperous, not to interfere with legal contracts.

LOOSE ENDS — By BRUCE HUTCHISON

The Prickly Canadian

SOME penetrating American observers, quoted in the press, have undertaken to say a few candid things about the Canadian people. Canadian people no doubt will be annoyed, being very touchy and brittle, but they need not be surprised. For a long time now, through our Government, Parliament, newspapers and family circles we have been criticizing just about everybody in sight, especially the Americans. It will do us no harm to hear what they think of us. If we are as good as we suppose we should not fear honest criticism.

Hutchison

YET I dare say few peoples in the world are so allergic to criticism as Canadians. The United States is getting used to its role as the chosen whipping boy of western civilization. The British have shrugged off foreign complaints for several centuries and learned to laugh at themselves. Canada, however, is young and has all youth's impatience and prickliness. Like any successful youth who is getting on in the world it feels a little chesty.

UP to the last few years Canadians absurdly underestimated their own achievements. The rest of the world might marvel at the construction of a rich and happy nation against the almost impossible obstacles of geography, economics and racial division. The Canadian, laboring under a rather repulsive inferiority complex, was determined to do things in his own way but rather imagined that other nations, like Britain and the United States, could do it much better.

Then, in the postwar boom, Canadians realized, almost overnight, that they had hatched a prodigy. Today they are somewhat dazzled by their own achievement, rather like an artist who wakes up one morning to find that he has painted a masterpiece in his sleep.

THIS is a heady moment for a man or nation. It has gone somewhat to the cold, Arctic head of Canada.

We say, for example, and quite accurately, that this is the most fortunate nation in the world, that despite all the bungling of governments and individuals, we have produced wealth, comfort and leisure never known before throughout all recorded history among a people of our population. But if this is indeed mainly our own work, if we have wrought better than we knew, it is also to a great extent the result of sheer luck.

We had the luck of bountiful resources, to begin with. No people in their senses could fail to make a rich nation of Canada. Some other people might well have done more with our resources than we have.

WE have also had the luck lately of a world boom and a ravenous seller's market for just about anything we could produce, and we take it almost as a personal slight, an unfriendly act, when foreigners question our high prices.

Finally, we had the luck of a good neighbor in the United States and that fact we appreciate least of all. Any other kind of neighbor doubtless would have taken over Canada long ago, but we seldom give the Americans any credit for their neighborliness, except in banquet speeches. We seldom pause with decent gratitude to observe the most obvious fact of our national existence—that the United States' power and nothing else makes our existence possible, that without this power we would soon be gobbled up by somebody else.

AGAIN, we are always deploring the unseemly spectacle of American politics, as all thoughtful Americans deplore it. We rarely consider that while we are safe under the protection of American power and not under our own, the Americans, unlike us, have been compelled to alter, in a few years, the habits of nearly two centuries, to accept burdens never forced so quickly on any nation before and to exercise their power as no nation has ever exercised it—that is to say, not by the historic methods of imperialism but by persuasion, agreement and the democratic process. In short, our Canadian problems, though complex enough, are simplicity itself compared to those of our neighbors.

IT is no wonder, then, that they sometimes find us difficult to understand, especially when we have only begun to understand ourselves. Yet when any foreigner says anything wise or foolish about Canada we bristle, our hackles rise from coast to coast, our politicians strike heroic attitudes and newspapers prepare to resist an invasion and die on the barricades.

This is all pretty absurd. We are old enough now, and should be big enough to expect the criticism, wise or foolish, long showered on other nations. We have no special exemption from the wisdom or the folly of the world. And when we can't even lose a hockey game to the Russians like good sports, without questioning the referee, it is probably time for us to take a good hard look in the mirror.

'Heavily in the Balance'

Montreal Gazette

THE pyramids of Egypt are among the wonders of the world. It is doubtful, however, if many of those tourists who go annually to marvel at them accord much thought to what was involved in their construction. The blood, sweat and tears of the slaves who followed the plans of the architects may have cemented the mud, rubble and sawn stone to near imperishability, but those unhappy people are generally forgotten.

And the human race had deluded itself into thinking that this forgetfulness closed the book upon mass human slavery and the degradation of humankind to levels lower than beasts of burden.

Evidence of the fallacy of this thinking has been furnished from time to time by the disappearance of Poles, Czechs, Germans, Japanese and others into the never-never land which lies behind the inner fringe of the Iron Curtain.

DIRECT REPORT

Reports of slavery in Russia have been sketchy, it is true, as must be the case in view of the isolation of slave operations and the secrecy with which they are guarded. But recently a Czech refugee spoke of his experience.

He had spent seven years in slave camps. The document produced by this refugee, Polak Frank (who was released in 1948 through Czechslovakian intervention) reveals the lash of the Communists as more than a match in callous brutality for any Czarist knout.

The document, which will be turned over to the UN committee investigating slave labor, will come as a shock to the western world, which tends to believe that slave labor production falls far short of output by free workers of the free nations.

The Reds, Frank reports, exact the last ounces of production from their serfs through promises of a little extra food or clothing. He says that in such fields as gold and iron production, these practices bring about output comparing favorably with that of the western world.

The document says that men, women and children are attached to plows and wagons, hauling heavy loads under conditions comparable to those of the slaves who toiled to build the pyramids.

TANGIBLE CONDITION

It is doubtful if anything Communist Russia produces through such practices ever stands as a wonder of the world. But the condition is becoming more and more tangible despite all the secrecy.

The Frank document promises to shed much new light upon a situation for which all Russians cannot be blamed. In fact many of the slaves themselves are Russian, undergoing slavery because they dared to disagree with their Red masters, or who even fell under "suspicion of unreliability."

In the final analysis this slavery issue is something which will weigh heavily in the balance by which Communist Russia must be judged by the world which she assaults.

RESPECTABLE

The phrase "Her Majesty's Opposition" was first uttered as a sly joke about a century and a half ago; and like the phrase "Prime Minister" (of old vintage but no less of a sneer when it was first used) it stuck because it was significantly apt. It was a phrase coined in heat of argument—but it stayed, because it says so much more than it meant to say: it crystallises the respectability of a proper opposition. However fiercely it opposes, it remains respectable, Her Majesty's opposition.

PROPHECY FULFILLED

There are very few of us who have not, at some time, given thanks to God; so when the suggestion that "Divine authority is dead" is rammed down our throats by influential materialists, well, as professing Christians, we can at least counter with the fact that Biblical prophecy has been literally fulfilled almost to the last degree.

Can you tell me by what course of reasoning evolutionists, and godless materialists, choose to deny that which is common knowledge all the world over? Our whole Christian commonwealth is founded on the "grace of God" and if that is not literal Divine intervention then we are all living in vain.

TAXES AND BREAD

As regards the sales tax. If this has to be, why complicate matters by using odd figures such as 3, or 5 per cent, why not keep it as simple as possible by having a tax of 4 per cent—1c tax on 25c, 2c tax on 26c to 50c, 3c tax on 51c to 75c, and 4c tax on 76c to $1.00? If more money is needed, a small yearly voluntary government hospital insurance subscription which would assist anyone requiring a private ward, or could include doctors' fees, perhaps $5 per annum.

Considering the enormous carry-over of wheat, and the fact that none of the 1953 crop has been sold, why do we have to pay one cent an ounce for bread? There would not be a combine of bakeries would there? They seem to please themselves if they think the public will stand a cent rise or an ounce less weight.

"RETIRED."

WHICH IS RIGHT?

I see that, according to your editorial columns, President MacKenzie of UBC declared recently that "our young people are the best physically, socially and intellectually, that we have yet produced." I venture no opinion as to "physically" or "socially," but surely "intellectually" will bear some examination.

For it was only last summer that there was a conference of 600 educators from all over North America on the UBC campus. Addressing this assembly, Stanley E. Read, a professor of English in President MacKenzie's own university, declared (Family Herald, Sept. 3, 1953): "65 to 70 per cent of the high school graduates who enter university cannot read, write or think straight . . . With some students I have had to go back to Grade 7 or 8 level to bring these freshmen up to university level . . . We feel we are taking over the duties of elementary and high schools in teaching. It is shocking that university professors must waste time with these."

Now I neither agree or disagree with these statements, not having any first-hand knowledge to go on. What I do say is that it is quite impossible to reconcile them with those of President MacKenzie. Surely the House Standing Committee on Education would be doing a public service if it interviewed both these men and tried to determine where the truth actually lies.

After all, if Professor Read is right, public money is being wasted twice over—once in the high school where essential information is not being got into the pupils, and once at university where men are being detailed off to make good this failure. How about it?

CANCER AND TOBACCO TAR

In the Feb. 28 edition of The Times an article appears that painting mice with tobacco tar causes cancer. This is no proof that it causes cancer in man, if it takes 20 years to affect a man as reported, how could a mouse live so long?

I never heard of a person getting tar on his skin, and it appears to be not satisfactory because they state that other animals are being painted with tar to see their result. What have such creatures done to be so tormented by great men in search for an answer to a problem they know cannot be found unless they paint themselves with tar?

The last experiment always has to be on man, so why torture animals in such a vain and hideous way. Dr. Hadwen said it was wrong to approach any problem that way and that nothing had ever been proved by this absurd torture of animals. Things that were known had usually been found by accident.

Is it fair to these helpless creatures to employ men to create disease in them that could not possibly be like disease in man, or any help whatever to people?

Many good doctors—and they are the best—have pointed out the great mistake of continuing such a ridiculous way of prying into nature, by the way of cruelty for so long and nothing gained.

NOT EVERY DAY

Did it ever occur to you, Sir, what an enormous amount of money it costs the taxpayer in time taken by the powers that be in the long-drawn political wrangling, oftimes of little value.

Have we too much government, too much unionsim, too much credit, and too much gabble? When is John Public going to wake up and take stock of himself; to realize that we cannot get something for nothing.

The leaning "post" is creaking badly, and is about to fall over, because it's rotten at the bottom. The man that wrote the song "Every day will be Sunday bye and bye," should have used "wont" instead of "will."

CNR EARNING SDOWN

"Our" railway earned $5,120,000 less in January, 1954, than in January, 1953.

The decline is blamed almost entirely on the 14 per cent decline in freight-car loadings.

Is the camel's back sagging, Mr. Editor?

Should our worker leaders put an ear to the ground? And open at least one eye to facts?

By the way, Mr. Editor, do you think the PGE will lose less or more per mile after it has spent another $70,000,000 of our money?

COMMON LAW COUNCILS

The best bond or liaison between government and the public would be Common Law Councils—at least one in each electoral district. The purpose or object: to influence the MLA's of any party to support the Common Law; to give a public pledge not to vote for any bill which conflicts with the Law; to inform any MLA at any time of the views of his electors.

The object of the Common Law is, to put it broadly, to ensure that the economic and industrial life of the community is so governed so that social institutions shall be subservient to our physical and spiritual needs. The Law is based on equality of rights, equality of taxation, equal privileges, equal restrictions and obligations.

It forfends against exploitation for private gain. And such Common Law Councils would investigate and debate matters of local interest where there is alleged violation of security of property and of security of natural rights.

The Councils would publicize discoveries and new methods, and be a sounding-board for new ideas for the well-being of the state. It would have machinery to handle cases of individual hardship.

Who would serve on these councils? Teachers, doctors, lawyers, clergymen and representatives of other professional ranks, also labor men, but not MLA's or political parties.

The Councils would have a non-political character—that is necessary to keep the Legislative bodies distinct from the Councils, since the latter is to be a check and a guide on our lawmakers. The MLA's would attend Council meetings only as witnesses, and, of course, be questioned by the members.

Why not start such a council in your locality?

I have been concise and terse, purposely, for the sake of space and prefer to use a pen name because of employment in the Civil Service.

ALL THINGS CONSIDERED

By STUART KEATE

The Everest Movie

THE "Conquest of Everest" movie, which opened here two days ago, is in some respects even better than the personal-appearance lecture which the engaging members of the Everest team delivered in this city.

Keate

True, we had the unrivaled pleasure of hearing the story from the lips of the participants. But — doubtless due to their innate modesty — they did not convey as dramatically as the film the harrowing nature of their task.

The addition of movement and sound to still pictures makes a tremendous difference. In the movie, the labored breathing of the climbers as they ascend the Lhotse face is almost asthmatic, and conveys vividly the sense of enervation and exhaustion suffered by the mountaineers. The whipping of the wind on the South Col; and at the summit of Everest, is a spine-chilling counterpoint to the struggle which underlines the courage of the climbers.

* * *

Then, too, movement adds tremendously to both live and inanimate objects. Rhododendrons seem even more real when they flutter; brown Sherpa faces come alive in boyish, attractive grins which make them appear a tremendously attractive band of people.

The blue-green of the crevasses, the turquoise tints of rushing rivers, and the snowy fastnesses of remote peaks all take on dramatic impact under the relentless eye of the camera.

The intelligent use of simple, hand-drawn maps make the entire expedition understandable to viewers who have never read the book or heard the lecturers.

Arthur Benjamin, who lived for awhile in Vancouver, has written an expressive musical score which achieves a nice balance of comedy (as in the scenes of monkeys cavorting, and small black boys swimming in a mud-hole) and drama (when the camera soars up to the peak of Everest).

It is notable that the high-altitude filming was done by George Lowe, who made such a tremendous hit in Victoria as opening lecturer. Lowe told us here that he had never handled a movie camera before in his life, but took over this additional duty from Tom Stobart at the upper reaches. Lowe's photography has already won an award in the U.K., as a result of which he is thinking seriously of giving up school teaching for movie-making.

* * *

I have only two criticisms of the picture, one of which is largely invalid. The last 1,000 feet were not photographed and the still-photo of Tenzing on top, injected into the movie, comes as a bit of an anti-climax. When one considers that stores had to be most carefully weighed in the final assault, it becomes clear that a movie camera would be an additional burden of considerably less value, say, than a container of oxygen.

The second criticism is, I think, justified. It has to do with the commentary. The man chosen to do the running narration, for some strange reason, was permitted to indulge in souped-up dramatics which seem out of character with the personalities of the team and spirit of the venture. At one point in the sound-track his rolling of "R's" was so theatrical that it brought giggles from the audience. This, it seems to me, could have been avoided.

* * *

These quibbles aside, "The Conquest of Everest" is a fine, engrossing picture. If you want to climb a mountain in comfort—or even if you don't want to climb a mountain—you'll like it.

NEW YORK—Red Button's television show will undergo a complete revision, with the new plot based on the trials and tribulations of a comedy-type family. The masterminds want Hollywood's Bill Demarest to play Red's father, Glenda Farrell for his mother, and Huntz Hall, of the Dead End Kids group, to round out the cast as the neighbor.

Dan Dailey will devote the next three months to "romancing" Sheree North—for publicity purposes only. It's an order from his 20th Century-Fox bosses. Bob Wagner is next in line as her prop Romeo. Actually, Sheree is concentrating on her career—she supports her mother and child — more seriously than on any fellow she's met thus far.

Philadelphia and Washington are the latest cities to be hit by sagging night-club business. . . . Singer Dinah Washington, in the process of losing her fifth husband, has found a fresh reason for warbling: Harold Johnson, a Chicago bar and grill owner.

Peter Lawford wouldn't be too pleased to learn that his future father-in-law, former Ambassador Joseph P. Golf-Ball Shagger Murder Case Goes To Jury Today

VANCOUVER (CP) — The crown completed its case Wednesday against 19-year-old William Wakefield Gash, on trial on a charge of murdering golf-ball shagger Franch Pitsch, 45, here last Dec. 11. The case is expected to go to the jury Thursday.

Shortly before presecutor J. A. Clark began summing up the crown's case, the all-male jury visited Langara golf course where Pitsch was beaten over the head with an iron bar and robbed of about $100.

Admitted as evidence Wednesday were two letters written by accused to his mother and to a welfare centre in which he admitted slaying Pitsch.

New Mexico Dust Clouds Manitoba

WINNIPEG (CP) — Dust storms in the southern United States turned a sunny afternoon to twilight in Manitoba Wednesday as dust drifted northeastward in a high-altitude current.

Weather officials said the dust originated in storms as far away as New Mexico, 1,100 miles southwest of Winnipeg. It was carried up by a rising air mass then swept along in a 50-mile-an-hour current up to altitudes of 30,000 feet.

By 10.30 a.m. CST a haze hung over Manitoba and the darkness deepened as the dust dropped as low as 3,000 feet by 5.30 p.m. Officials said there was no cloud but the sun was obscured.

RCAF jet planes at Portage la Prairie, Man., 50 miles west of Winnipeg, soared to 30,000 feet in early afternoon before clearing the haze.

SAFER MOTORING

By JACK SMITH

License Regulations Influenced Designs

INSTALMENT XXVIII

In the early days of the motor car, it was common practice to build engines with a three-inch bore and four-inch stroke, and four-inch bore and five-inch stroke, or in these approximate proportions.

Then the blow fell in England. All cars were to be charged according to horsepower for their license fee. The Royal Automobile Club was commissioned to set a formula for the charge, so after considerable research into existing engines it came up with the following:

Bore squared times the number of cylinders, all divided by 2.5.

No notice was taken of the length of the stroke, which manufacturers soon lengthened in order to permit a 25-horsepower motor to develop an actual 40 horsepower.

Double Rating

This resulted in the designation of cars as "12-50," meaning 12 h.p. by RAC rating for the license fee, and 50 actual brake horsepower. Under the same rating a V-8 Ford would be called a 29-85—tax on 29 horsepower; power developed, 85.

These long stroke motors, with much intensive development, eventually became the wonders of the automobile world, but as in the United States the tax was not based on the RAC formula, the Americans continued with the 4 x 5 and similar sizes. It used to amaze Americans that a 20 horsepower Alvis in a big car could do almost 100 miles per hour, when a 21 horsepower Model T did only 30 to 35 miles per hour.

About 1916 Benjamin Briscoe brought out a successful four cylinder car. He first spent a year in Europe gathering data, and evolved what was advertised as "Benjamin Briscoe's life masterpiece," or the "car with the half million dollar motor."

Extra-Long Stroke

It also boasted the "longest long-stroke motor in the world today." It had a three-inch bore and five-inch stroke, and would do 30 and more miles to the gallon. Its top speed was 55 miles per hour, and since the Cadillac of the day was good for a bit over 60 with an eight-cylinder motor, the Briscoe was a good piece of work.

Perhaps Howard E. Coffin, who designed the Chalmers high-speed long stroke motor and the 3½ x 5 Hudson Super Six, felt that the long stroke was the answer to all problems.

From 1935 to 1939 Hudson used the 3 x 5 motor, and the cars were noted for their punch on hills. The 1937 Hudson Terraplane developed 101 horsepower at 4,000 rpm, with a total cylinder capacity of 212 cubic inches. The 1937 V-8 Ford with 3 1/16 bore and 221 cubic-inch displacement developed 85 horsepower, so the long stroke still seemed a good bet.

Most new European cars seem to favor shorter strokes, since the license fee no longer is based on RAC rating.

Some American manufacturers are advertising the short stroke motor as if it was a new and wonderful discovery, and claim that the lower piston speed reduces piston wear. The long stroke motor, however, with its high torque, usually can run with a higher rear end gear ratio, and the pistons are slowed down to about the same speed.

Now to get down to cases. American production car engines have low volumetric efficiency, or power in relation to the size of the engine.

Opinions Differ

For instance, a 30 cubic inch Norton racing motorcycle engine develops more than 50-horsepower, and a 240 cubic inch Mercury develops about 100. If the Mercury had the same volumetric efficiency as the Norton, it would develop 400-horsepower.

The Norton is a long stroke motor, and is supreme in its class. Another motorcycle motor is the J.A.P., a long-stroke, dirt-track engine that is unbeatable for its size.

In summing up we find both types have their adherents who will argue far into the night on the merits of their favorites.

And in spite of the arguments, claims and counter-claims, the trend is slightly toward the shorter stroke and larger bore.

Motor Power Increased

Here are some pointers for the driver who would like to change the performance of his car.

Careful, thorough polishing of the combustion chamber, valve tops, and piston tops will make a considerable improvement. (I mean a real polish, not just a cleaning job.)

About .050 inch milled off the head will make a marked change in both power and mileage, but will call for careful use of the throttle below 20 miles per hour to avoid ping. It might also be necessary to use a higher grade of gasoline.

NAIL POLISH CURE

Plastic taillight lenses which have been sun-bleached and dulled can be restored by coating with ordinary red fingernail polish. Thin polish with acetone and apply evenly.

WHY CHANGE OIL

Fleet Owners Prove Worth Of Preventive Maintenance

This is the last of a series of five short articles that presented the oil engineer's view on the controversial subject of oil changes for the private automobile.

All of the factors so far discussed as applying to oil deterioration in individually owned passenger cars also apply to fleets of passenger cars, trucks and buses, and similar large groups of units which are operated as fleets. However, this one major difference exists: when a number of units are operated as a fleet, they are normally under the control of a master mechanic or maintenance superintendent who specializes in the problem of efficient maintenance, servicing and repairing of automotive equipment.

This man's wide experience with motor operation and with general and specific problems engendered in the fleet under his control qualifies him eminently to insure better operation that can be expected by the individual untrained operator of an individual car. His experience is usually supplemented by a group of trained mechanics who are good craftsmen. Further, he has available all sorts of mechanical equipment to diagnose trouble in the units and to maintain excellent operating conditions.

"Preventive maintenance" is the term now widely heard in the field of fleet operation, and through an adequate preventive maintenance schedule, operating costs are reduced remarkably.

One of the greatest factors in preventive maintenance is the assurance of a continued supply of adequate lubricant.

SERVICE COVER

The fender flap which covers the gas tank filler spout on many cars is frequently found to be noisy and hard to operate. A few drops of oil now and then will take care of it. More serious than the noise is the rusting which takes place in the hinges and may cause them to snap if ignored too long.

Mark VII Boasts High Quality

By DON INGHAM
Times Automotive Editor

High power, high speed, and a high standard of workmanship are available in the 1954 Jaguar sedan now on display at Thomas Plimley Ltd.

Most British cars sold in Canada, with the exception of the Rolls-Royce that is in a class by itself, compete with one another in the small car market.

The Jaguar Mark VII saloon, however, priced at $4,985, competes on even terms with American and Canadian cars in the $4,500-$5,500 price class, and more than holds its own.

Its ride is smooth but firm, with excellent cornering features. The famous XK120 motor delivers 160 horsepower for about 20 per cent less "petrol" than the average motor of the same power, and if the owners of $5,000 automobiles could be persuaded to hold a race, my money would be on the "Jag."

STEERING SIMPLE

This car seats six in solid comfort, has vacuum-boosted brakes and automatic transmission, and a steering gear that needs no power operation. The wheel is readily adjustable to the individual driver's needs, and the air conditioning system is complete.

It lacks a power-operated front seat, push-button windows and a radio.

What it has, though, are a number of unique features that make it the $7,000 car it would be if the English pound were back at its immediate postwar level.

A trigger on the edge of the two rear doors can be set by parents, after the children have been seated in the back, so that the inside door handles will not work. Later on, when taking the neighbors to the opera, the locks can be restored to their regular function.

The conventional gas tank across the rear of the car has been replaced by two tanks on each side. As a result, the trunk is about one foot deeper than the average, and about 30 per cent more spacious.

FULL TOOL KIT

Tool kits with spare light bulbs and a few other parts are contained in the front doors, and the solid wood dashboard has two glove compartments, and a dinky little drawer in the middle for knicknacks.

David Brown, salesman at Plimley's, took me for a spin in the Mark VII, and while sailing along at a brisk speed, he opened the sunshine roof. There was no effort, no noise, and no draft. In fact, air inside the car gradually works its way out through the wide open hatch.

Three other features that tickle the heart of the ardent motorist are the tachometer in the place of honor on the dashboard, sun visors that set flush into the moulding above the windshield, and unusually high-pitched horns.

"A truck driver will have a hard time hearing the average low-pitched horn over the noise of his own engine and transmission," Mr. Brown explained. "The Jaguar horns, though, face forward at the very front of the car, and the high note can be heard above the average engine noise."

The Jaguar motor is a story in itself. Six cylinders, displacing 3½ litres or 205 cubic inches, it has double overhead camshafts, twin SU carburetors, and a finish that is excellent "even in places where you are not expected to look," Mr. Brown said. The same motor, with a few simple modifications, drives the Jaguar sports car at speeds up to 170 miles per hour.

The company's history begins some years ago with the old Swallow sidecar for motorcycles, known as the SS. The same initials were used when the company began to make high performance automobiles.

They took on a sinister connotation in the late '30s, however, when Hitler's storm troopers made them feared throughout Europe. They were dropped immediately, and the car was reborn as the Jaguar, name of the fierce and powerful leopard of Central and South America.

Snowsell Renews RCMP Leak Charge

Secret Files Violated in Police Talk With Casey About Marshall, Garson Again Told

The matter of an alleged "leak" of information from RCMP files relating to the now-famous John Marshall case is still before officials in Ottawa.

Frank Snowsell, former CCF MLA for Saanich, has written a further letter to Justice Minister Stuart Garson, and Rev. D. C. O'Connell has taken up the question with Maj. Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., MP for Esquimalt-Saanich.

Neither is satisfied with Mr. Garson's recent statements that no member of the RCMP gave information from special branch files to anyone concerning Mr. Marshall, who was dismissed from his library job because of past association with alleged "leftist" organizations.

Mr. Snowsell and Mr. O'Connell, together with Rev. E. J. Staley, were the first to call for a full investigation of the question, after an investigation was held which Mr. Garson said unearthed nothing, they asked why Reeve Joseph Casey had not been questioned.

They felt he should have been contacted since Victoria newspapers carried accounts of a meeting between the reeve and a member of the RCMP at which information was supplied on Mr. Marshall.

This point was taken up in the House of Commons March 9 at which time Justice Minister Garson said the reason the Reeve had not been questioned was because "the only occasion on which any member of the RCMP was in contact with Reeve Casey in relation to this matter was a considerable time after Mr. Marshall was released."

VIOLATION CHARGED

In his latest letter, Mr. Snowsell states: "You have failed to understand the significance of the interview which Reeve Joseph Casey had with a member of the RCMP."

"The fact that Casey said that he learned nothing that Marshall had not already made public does not detract from the serious fact that on this occasion there was a violation of the secrecy of RCMP files, or at least of information purporting to have been obtained from police files.

"Also, because of that leakage there has been serious 'smearing' of the individual, Marshall."

Merchants Outplayed On Home Ice

Nanaimo 4, Merchants 1

By DENNY BOYD

Nanaimo Clippers left their playoff cockiness scattered all over the ice of Nanaimo Civic Arena last week-end and played it close to the vast Wednesday night crowd at Memorial Arena.

And their switch in attitudes payed off as they roared back to deadlock the best-of-seven Commercial Hockey League championship series at 1-1 by scoring a well-deserved 4-1 victory over Victoria Merchants.

Merchants took full advantage of Clippers' over-confidence in the opener Saturday night at Nanaimo and stole an 8-3 victory, first win Merchants had been able to score at the Clippers' home all season.

But Clippers were abashed and determined Wednesday night and there was no denying them the victory that squared the series. The clubs go at it again Saturday night at Nanaimo and come back to Victoria for the fourth game next Wednesday.

As good as Doug Boettcher was in goal for Merchants, he wasn't good enough to hold off Clippers' flying forwards and he did not receive overly sound support from his defense, which was slow in clearing at crucial times.

Merchants were held off the score-sheet by rookie Walt Davis until 13.54 of the second period but Davis had nowhere near the volume of rubber to contend with that Clippers threw at the acrobatic Boettcher.

ROLL EARLY

Clippers' scoring machine started to roll at 5.09 of the first period. Merchants were on the attack but a pass-out from behind Clippers' goal went astray and slid over the centre-line with two Clippers in hot pursuit. Boettcher came out to clear but just turned the puck to the boards where Angie DeFelice intercepted and passed to Arnie Duggan who drilled the puck into the net.

There were five penalties called in the last 10 minutes of the first frame as officials Ross Valliere and Ken Gunter clamped down early and with the desired effect. Only one penalty was whistled over the rest of the game.

Joe Zuback made it 2-0 at 8.55 of the second period after Boettcher had stopped six shots in almost as many seconds on a determined Clipper ganging attack.

Merchant veteran Fred McColl accounted for his club's only counter when he steered a relay from Ed Taylor and Phil Andrejkew into the rigging.

However, Shadow Yesowick got that one back with a little over a minute left in the period and DeFelice put the issue beyond any doubt by scoring on a hard screened shot. Davis was at his best in the last period when he robbed Bernie Strongman on a vicious slap-shot and took the puck away from Toby Brown on a breakaway.

First period—1, Nanaimo, Duggan (De Felice) 5.09. Penalties: Evans 10.01, Bremner 11.22, Duggan 11.22, Jensen 12.16, De Felice 12.16.

Second period—2, Nanaimo, Zuback (Carr, Shamlock) 8.55. 3, Merchants, McColl (Taylor, Andrejkew) 13.54. 4, Nanaimo, Yesowich (Medley) 18.47. Penalties: None.

Third period—5, Nanaimo, De Felice (Yesowich) 8.30. Penalty: Strongman 8.13.

Cougars Lose Chance For Fourth

Calgary 5, Victoria 1

Western Hockey League fans can be excused for being in a bit of a dither today.

With the regular schedule due to end Sunday, only two facts are certain, the playoffs start March 23 and Seattle Bombers are out of the running. The remainder is a schedule-maker's nightmare.

Calgary Stampeders added to the confusion Wednesday night by whipping Victoria Cougars 5-1 and moving back into a first-place tie with Vancouver Canucks and leaving the top rung open to either club.

Saskatoon Quakers, in third place, are still threatened by the surging Edmonton Flyers who are only three points behind and have two games left to play, one more than Quakers.

Victoria's loss Wednesday night, in addition to preventing the Cougars from finishing in fourth place, left New Westminster Royals with a chance to tie Cougars for fifth place. Royals now are two points behind the Vancouver Island sextet.

The playoff picture may be clarified a little Friday when the league resumes action after a night off tonight. Seattle visits Vancouver and a win for Canucks would put them back in front again.

Cougars can clinch fifth place by defeating Edmonton Flyers in Edmonton. But a Flyer win would leave every position from first to sixth hanging on the outcome of the three Saturday night games that pit Vancouver against New Westminster, Edmonton against Calgary and Victoria against Saskatoon, and Sunday's game at Seattle between the Bombers and Royals.

CATS OUTPLAYED

Stampeders turned on the pressure from the opening whistle in Calgary Wednesday night and enjoyed a wide edge in territorial play. Cougars with Colin Kilburn and Billy Reay playing defense wilted in the second after holding Calgary to a 1-1 stalemate in the opening period. Calgary led 3-1 going into the third.

Jimmy McFadden and Pat Lundy paced the cowboys with three-point effort. McFadden scored twice and assisted on another, while Lundy had a goal and two assists. Sid Finney and Archie Scott rounded out the Calgary scoring. Doug Anderson notched Cougars' lone marker.

ALBERNI BEATEN

Totems Win, Dockers Lose

West Vancouver 39, Alberni 33; Vic High 40, Delta 21
Penticton 37, Esquimalt 28

Two of Vancouver Island's delegates to the B.C. High School Basketball Tournament in Vancouver took a bruising tumble Wednesday, only Vic High Totems emerging with a whole skin.

Totems, Vancouver Island champs, survived the first round by waxing Delta, 40-21, but Bill Reid's Esquimalt Dockers were dropped into the consolation round after losing to Penticton, 37-28, in the opening game of the tournament.

Alberni High School Chieftans followed Esquimalt into the also-ran class when they were beaten, 39-33, by West Vancouver.

Totems retained hope of winning the championship of the four-day tournament as coach Porky Andrews started his shock troops, let them build up a lead and then coasted through the second half using second-stringers.

Totems took an 18-5 lead at the end of the first quarter and built it up to a 28-8 edge late in the second quarter. With the game salted away, Andrews cleared his bench and rested his starters for the tough road that follows before the finals Saturday.

PEDERSEN HIGH

Eddie Pedersen led Totems with 10 points and was backed up by another hustling defensive game by guard Chummy Crabbe, most valuable player in the island tournament.

Esquimalt, runners-up to Totems in the island tournament, picked the wrong time to get rid of a bad game Wednesday and were far below par.

Dockers were unable to stop Penticton's fast-break and, compounding their woes, their own shooting was off form.

Penticton held a slim 11-9 lead at the end of the first quarter and then stretched the margin to 17-9. However, Joe Patterson of Esquimalt started a one-man war with Penticton and succeeding in bringing his club to within three points of Penticton at half time.

After Penticton again pulled away in the third quarter, Dockers' last rally closed the gap to four points but there the rally died and Penticton pulled away.

Patterson was Esquimalt's outstanding player and top scorer with 10 points while guard Garry Gilbert followed with nine.

Alberni fell behind in the first quarter and, like Esquimalt, never got back in contention although they made it close several times in the second half.

West Van was ahead 9-4 at quarter-time and 19-13 at the half.

A'S FALTER

Chieftans cut the deficit to a single point in the third quarter but West Van restored their lead. Again, in the fourth quarter, Alberni closed in on West Van but the mainlanders took advantage of over-eagerness by Alberni to dump in eight points in the final minutes of the game.

Gerry Knowles turned in an excellent two-way game for the losers with nine points and centre Dave Price contributed eight.

In other first round games, Trapp Tech downed Prince George 60-30, Lord Byng beat Trail 43-33, and Mission scored a 56-35 victory over Duke of Connaught.

Totems are scheduled to meet the powerful Trapp Tech club in the quarter-finals tonight.

Second half of the first-round draw saw Burnaby South down Como Lake, 44-33 and Gladstone beat Kamloops, 45-35.

Island scorers follow.

Totems—Ed Pederson 10, Chummy Crabbe 6, Ed Kowalyk 1, Tom English 5, Waldo Skillings 2, Bud Rutherford, Gary Fletcher 2, Ken McCullough 5, Art Chiko, Ray Tomlinson 1, Bill Abbott 2, Den Perry 6. Total—40.

Esquimalt—Garry Gilbert 9, George Wright, Joe Patterson 10, Al Webb, Mike Lowry 3, George MacCreadie, Ray Bryant, Mike Cunningham 2, Chuck Bennett 4, John Magwood, Gerry Harris. Total—29.

Alberni—Gerry Knowles 9, Ian McLaren, Don Schick 3, Dave Price 8, Bert Ward 2, Tom Watts 4, Jim Redford, Barry McShane 4, Ray Gailloux 3. Total—33.

Feedmen Not Bankers, Just Want to Play Ball

By DENNY BOYD

It appears that the more proficient you get in basketball, the more it costs you. A consistent winner suffers from chronic pains in the wallet.

So it is with Howard Tooby's Scott & Peden club, one of the classiest junior men's teams ever put together in Victoria.

Winners of the city, Island and lower Island championships, the Feedmen had visions of bringing home a Canadian championship this year. However, that vision was clouded this week by a dark financial fog.

Early in the season, the players contributed $10 each for the $100 good-faith bond that made them eligible for the Canadian series if they advanced that far.

Now, Scott & Peden are scheduled to meet Marpole in Vancouver Saturday night in the first of the two-game series for the B.C. championship. After that comes the western Canada final and then the Canadian final.

But there is far more to clearing these hurdles than just winning basketball games. There are financial hurdles that, to the Feedmen, are a mile high.

Tooby received notification this week that, before his club could advance any further in the Dominion series, they would have to post $750 with the Canadian Amateur Basketball Association by Friday to cover traveling expenses in the event of a Dominion title series being played here.

Tooby succeeded in cutting that figure to two installments, the first of which is due Friday.

PLAYERS TO SUFFER

If the team is unable to raise the cash, they will forfeit their right to compete in the Canadian series and the players will lose the original $100 bond.

If they raise the money, beat Marpole and then win the Western Canada final, Scott & Peden would meet an eastern winner here for the Canadian championship. They would then have to raise an additional $350 but would be allowed to keep 90 per cent of all gate receipts from the Western Canada and Canadian final. Tooby feels that those two series would draw well enough to cover the $750 bond.

If they raise the money but are beaten by Marpole, they get back the original $100 and the $350.

The trouble is, Tooby's boys are ball players, not bankers.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

If perhaps you may have missed the item—Victoria goes to the dogs Friday and Saturday of this week.

Or should it be that the dogs are coming to Victoria as a prelude to the tourist season?

At any rate, the Victoria City Kennel Club this week-end will present a championship show on a site where the usual procedure is for gay young blades to attempt to impress the fairer of the human species. The Crystal Garden is the place. The dancers have moved upstairs, but the perfume lingers on.

The entrants in this one are the socially elite of man's best friend. Man has other sundry associates, too, of more than passing interest, but none of these will ever be preened in such comparable fashion, the hair-dos befitting the occasion. And a proud and haughty air will pervade.

Walker

The fashion plates of the piece will be the Chihuahuas, maybe with rhinestone neckpieces yet. That they rate such particular attention is brought to mind by a recent item concerning the famous Westminster Kennel Club show in New York.

'Tis said that one of these minute characters was so highly thought of by his owner that, when tempted with an offer of $4,000 for his pound and a half of affection, said owner wrapped his pet in a mink jacket and both left the premises in a huff, the Chihuahua without even so much as a "wuff."

If the Chicago Black Hawks won the Stanley Cup playoffs, that would be news. But dogs make astounding copy too. And this year a new champion has hit the top.

They Live a Dog's Life and Like It

Beagles are now the most popular of the select crowd. They're the garden variety of the canine clan according to the American Kennel Club register, having won the title from the Cockers. There are more beagles per ounce of blue blood than any other breed.

According to those who know, the beagle is the all-rounder of the lot. He can tree a squirrel, or have his ears pulled without biting a child who does the pulling and conceivably needs biting. He can do each in agreeable fashion. And beagles don't particularly care if they're listed in "Who's Who" or sleep in the basement. They're the placid type with the disposition to match their surroundings. (Not so the cocker—he's a finicky rascal, who often holds out for steak when liver is offered).

Our information also states that a beagle isn't really bow-legged—just sturdily built, and was originally strictly a hunting dog with ancestry in England dating back some 400 years

Frankly, we never heard of a Samoyd before, but apparently there is such an animal, and a dog at that!

The story goes that somewhere in the dim, distant past, the forerunner to the Samoyd was crossed with a Polar Bear. Now, however, it's simply regarded as a Siberian sled dog and hardly to be recommended as a lap pet at church socials.

Some May Agree, Others Not

Then there's the Basenji, a quiet sort of chap, whose forebears must have been frightened by an irate suitor. The Basenji doesn't bark, not really, but whines, and at one time was considered a more important part of a Pygmy dowry than the wife. (Readers may form their opinion on the latter allegation, the price and availability of dog-houses being what they are today.)

Now we don't promise you that there will be any Samoyds or Basenjis at the Crystal this week-end, nor that a cocker won't bite a beagle.

However, one thing is certain; it's going to be the doggondest week-end dog lovers have enjoyed in some time.

PRO BALL TO STAY IN CALGARY

CALGARY (CP) — Professional baseball will definitely return to Calgary for 1954, and, director Syd McDonald of the Calgary Stampeders says, "We're going to try and improve the club."

Mr. McDonald said today the board of the Western International League club has agreed to carry on this summer.

He contacted manager Gene Lillard at his home in Goleta, Calif., Tuesday night and was informed that all players had been signed.

Stampeders have an agreement with San Francisco Seals of the Pacific Coast League whereby they will be able to pick up any player of "A" calibre unable to make the grade in triple "A" baseball.

Tillicums Take Playoff Lead

Willie Wong hooped 10 points to pace Tillicums to a 34-15 victory over First United in the first game of a two-game total-point series for the Victoria midget boys' basketball title at Esquimalt High School Wednesday night.

Brentwood midget girls' posted an 18-12 decision over Eaglettes in a preliminary contest.

Tillicums had little difficulty, holding an 8-1 first-quarter lead and upping the margin to 19-8 at half time before breezing home with a 19-point lead.

Darrell Lorimer tallied six points for the winners, while Bob Chapman, Danny Ferguson and George Webb each scored four points for the losers.

The West Indies team has won two matches, and England one in the best-of-five series.

With the pitch and weather conditions ideal for batting, C. Weekes and his third wicket partner, Frank Worrell, 76 not out, mastered the English bowling. The unbroken third wicket stand produced 202 runs.

England was handicapped by an injury to bowler Brian Statham, who badly strained a muscle.

All-Blacks Get Battle From California Side

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Ron Jarden scored six points on two tries to lead the New Zealand All-Blacks to a 14-6 victory over the University of California rugby team Wednesday.

The win was the famed New Zealand amateur team's 31st—against four losses—on its current world tour. California put up one of its best games of the season, but was unable to master the All-Blacks, who led 8-0 at the half.

Trailing Jarden in the visitors' scoring was Tiny White, with a try, and Colin Leader, with another, scored recovering a loose ball.

Matt Hazeltine scored California's lone try and Alan Schmeiser added three points on a penalty kick.

The All-Blacks, now homeward bound, meet the bay area all-stars Saturday in San Francisco for their second and last game in this area.

'Tain't Cricket No More What With Rum and Riots

By ARCH MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—The England-West Indies cricket series has resumed at Port of Spain, Trinidad, and British newspapers indicated anew today that some of the goings-on in the colony "just aren't cricket."

What with riots, flying bottles, quaking and partisan umpires and uninhibited crowds, it has been some series, British newspaper men report. It's been a far cry from the gentle English game which depends as much on quiet, decorum and good manners in crowd and players alike as on ball, bat and wicket.

Some correspondents with the English team reported more trouble is possible after watching the beginning of the fourth test match Wednesday. England needs a victory or a tie to stay alive in the five-game series.

There were a couple of decisions that caused the English players to clasp their heads in un-English anguish and utter comparatively harsh words. However, the play was calm by comparison with previous games in the series.

The high point—or low point — was reached at Georgetown, British Guiana, where captain Len Hutton of England, a slow, stubborn Yorkshire man mighty with the bat, uttered what may become a cricket classic.

"Never mind the riot, lads, carry on," he told his team, formed mostly of young English players sent on the tour, ironically, for seasoning.

England persevered to win amid a hail of bottles and surrounded by riot squads and extra police. At Jamaica, umpires were threatened with knife and pistol and their families manhandled, newspaper reports said. One umpire made three correct but unpopular decisions and was still shaking 20 minutes after he left the field, reported Alex Bannister in The Daily Mail.

Bannister said in a special article from Georgetown that the crowds there "bet and drink rum with equal enthusiasm." English players throughout the tour had suffered from "non-stop noise and child-like demonstrations of the crowds."

Bannister said each of the 16 players in the English team is "counting the days until he gets back to the safer if cooler shores of Britain." He suggested future British teams skip British Guiana, where a Communist-inclined government was put out of office recently by the British government.

$300,000 GATE EXPECTED FOR WELTER TITLE BOUT

CHICAGO (AP)—Middleweight champion Bobo Olson will get a 40 per cent split of a net gate that may top $300,000 when he defends his title against welterweight king Kid Gavilan in Chicago Stadium April 2.

Olson and Gavilan today were to sign a formal contract for the 15-round bout.

Olson also will receive 40 per cent of a reported $100,000 television deal. The Chicago area, stretching as far as Milwaukee, will be blacked out. The fight otherwise will be televised nationally to home viewers.

Gavilan's share of the gate and TV proceeds will be 20 per cent.

LUMLEY NEAR GOALIE AWARD

Harry's Hands Itching Now

Toronto 3, Montreal 1

Every time Harry Lumley kicks out a shot he gets that much closer to $1,000 and hockey's greatest goal-keeping honor.

At the rate he was going Wednesday night, Lumley has a good chance of taking the Vezina trophy, awarded to the National Hockey League's top net-minder and something that has eluded Harry in his 11-year career in the big time.

He was sensational as Toronto Maple Leafs took over second place with a 3-1 victory over the tough Montreal Canadiens. Harry turned back 22 Canadien shots.

That left Lumley two goals ahead of Terry Sawchuk of Detroit Red Wings, winner of the Vezina for the last two years.

The race might go right down to the wire. The Leafs and Red Wings meet in Detroit Sunday in their final game of the 70-game schedule.

Lumley didn't have too much work Wednesday night. A Maple Leaf Garden crowd of 14,572, largest of the season in Toronto, saw Canadiens open the scoring early in the first period and then fall under the Leaf attacks.

TRAINING CAMP BRIEFS

No-Hit Necciai Now Voluntarily Retired

By United Press

ORLANDO, Fla.—Ron Necciai, rated two years ago as the greatest pitching prospect since Bob Feller, was placed on the voluntarily-retired list today by the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Necciai, only pitcher in the history of organized baseball to strike out 27 men in a nine-inning game, asked to be placed on the list a few hours after he was assigned to the Pirates' Huntsville, Tex., class "D" farm club. The 21-year-old right-hander was suffering with a lame arm.

Necciai struck out 27 batters in a "perfect" no-hitter for Bristol, Va., against Welch, W. Va., in the Appalachian League in 1952 and subsequently struck out 24 batters in another game. Bristol manager George Detore said Necciai's fast ball "was better than Bob Feller's" and baseball experts unanimously agreed he could become one of the game's greats.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UP)—Ralph Kiner was advised "to take things easy" for a few days today as the Chicago Cubs met the New York Giants in a Grapefruit League game.

The big slugger, who hit 35 home runs last season but lost his position as the National League's leading homer-hitter to Milwaukee's Ed Matthews, is suffering with a bruised left heel.

TUCSON, Ariz. (UP) — The Cleveland Indians hoped to break a four-game losing streak at the expense of one of the Grapefruit League's hottest teams today when they took on the surprising Baltimore Orioles.

The Orioles, with an overall record of 7-2 against major league teams and 9-2 against all competition, won two of three previous games with the Indians.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UP) — Bob Borkowski, Lloyd Merriman and Wally Post delighted manager Birdie Tebbetts today as they battled to win the third regular job in the Cincinnati Redleg outfield left vacant by the sale of Willard Marshall to the Chicago White Sox.

All three starred in Wednesday's 4-1 triumph over the Detroit Tigers. Borkowski blasted a home run and a double while Merriman and Post each contributed a double to Cincinnati's seven-hit attack.

LAKELAND, Fla. (UP) — Don't count out Harry Agganis, former Boston University football star, when the Boston Red Sox' flock of young prospects is being considered.

Agganis, a first-baseman, has impressed manager Lou Boudreau all spring and Wednesday hammered a key double as the Red Sox snapped their five-game losing streak with a 10-6 victory over the Washington Senators.

VERO BEACH, Fla. (UP)—Brooklyn manager Walt Alston, who was hired to beat the New York Yankees, tried his hand at it for the first time today when the streaking Dodgers met the slumping world champions.

The Dodgers went against the Yankees for the first time since their losing effort in the 1953 world series with a string of eight consecutive victories in the grapefruit league. The Yankees have lost four straight and eight of their 11 exhibition games.

Rookies Pete Wojey and Don Bessent and veteran Bob Milliken scattered nine singles as the Dodgers beat the Chicago White Sox, 5-1, Wednesday while the Yankees bowed to the unbeaten Philadelphia Athletics, 5-3.

City Bowlers To Shoot High

The world series of bowling commences at Seattle Field Artillery Armory Saturday, and Victoria will be represented.

And when the 51st American Bowling Congress tenpin tournament concludes 45 days later, more than 16,000 trundlers will have fired their best shots over 32 gleaming new alleys in search of a slice of the $175,000 estimated prize fund.

Victoria keglers will get into the act Easter week-end, April 16, 17, 18 and 19, when eight teams will be competing. Teams entered are those representing Coronation Motors, Gray Bros. Ltd., Gorge Hotel, Tillicums, Les Palmer's, Mac's Auto Court, Strathcona Cafe and Dorman's Men's Wear.

Les Palmer's and Tillicums will move into action first. They are scheduled to roll the night of April 16, starting at 9.30. Gorge Hotel, Coronation Motors, Gray Bros. Ltd. and Strathcona Cafe see action April 17 at 7 p.m.

Mac's Auto Court and Dorman's Men's Wear compete April 18 at 9.30 p.m. Local trundlers scheduled to take part in the doubles and singles events will be firing April 19.

★ ★ ★

Every nationally known kegler—whether it be Buddy Bomar of Chicago or Leo Rollick of Santa Monica—will be in the event. So will an awful lot of pin spillers the average person never heard of, but who, like Ora Mayer in 1935, can come from nowhere to take it all.

★ ★ ★

The all-events title, defended this year by Frank Santore of New York, is the big event. If you take it you're Mr. Bowling for the year. The all-events prize goes to the kegler who concludes with the best nine-game average—three in team play, three in doubles and three in singles.

BEST OF THE LOT

The ABC masters' invitational tournament, in which 64 top stars will compete in four-game double elimination matches, is scheduled to run from April 27 through May 1.

All the big names of the game will be in this one. Their past honors mean little. Ned Day, Lee Jouglard, Frank Santore, Steve Nagy, Junie McMahon, Andy Varipapa, Joe Wilman, Dick Hoover, Buddy Bomar, Walter Ward, Joe Kissoff, Johnny Klares and a host of other history making names will be just a lot of guys named Joe when the bell rings.

Rudy Habetler of Chicago will be defending champion in the masters'.

★ ★ ★

Local teams and members going to the tourney are:

Coronation Motors — Ken Munn, Wilf Johnston, Wilbur Webb, Nip Sage, George Motion.

Gray Bros. Ltd.—Bill Templeton, Bill Coates, Dave Barr, Connie McBeth, Jack Leetham.

Gorge Hotel—Andy Palmer, Len Murrant, Bill Norris, Fred Welsh, Bob Turner.

Mac's Auto Court—Lew Kamann, Frank Warshawski, Bob Brotherston, Walt Davis.

Strathcona Cafe — Art Manson, Keith Olson, Don Craig, Charlie Marks, Bill Walker.

Dorman's Men's Wear—Ron Coulter, Bud Falk, Dave Williams, Verne Goudal, Roy Begg.

Speaking of races, Toni Lamprecht of the Victoria club made "Victoria Day" complete at Deer Park, Washington, two weeks ago when he won the men's slalom race. Last week-end speedy Toni placed second to Herb Bradley of the Courtenay club in the Kandahar race at Forbidden Plateau, losing out by six seconds. Erwin Egger of the Sno-Birds placed fourth in the same race.

A general meeting is scheduled for March 24 at Williams Hall at 8 p.m. Plans for a dance April 2 will be under discussion.

Almas Hurt In Hockey 'Experiment'

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (CP)—Winger Gerry Couture's goal less than three minutes before the end gave Providence Reds a 5-4 victory over Buffalo Bisons Wednesday night in an experimental American Hockey League game played under three passing rules—past, present and collegiate.

The Bisons took a 2-0 lead with goals by Don Marshall and Harry Taylor in the first period—played under the old rule limiting passing from one zone to another.

In the second period, under the collegiate rule allowing passing all the way to the defending team's blue line, Providence went ahead with two tallies each by Ken Davies and Zellio Toppazzini. Ken Hayden scored for Buffalo.

The third period was played under present rules.

Don Marshall counted in the finale for Buffalo.

Goalie Ralph Almas of Buffalo suffered an ankle injury in the pre-game warmup. Claude Roy, Reds' spare net-minder, worked for Bisons.

HARSHMAN AIMS FOR MAJORS AGAIN

If Jack Makes Chisox, Dee Should Get Bonus

By GAYLE TALBOT

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Mrs. Dee Harshman thinks she might be the only woman ever to have been given a big league catcher's mitt by her husband as a Christmas present.

The gesture was not entirely a sentimental one on the part of her husband, Jack Harshman, who is being counted upon to bolster the Chicago White Sox pitching staff this season. Jack needed a receiver to help him keep his arm limbered up in the back yard during the winter. Mrs. Harshman just happened to be handy.

She is not the type one would pick out in a crowd as a catcher, being slender and blond and extremely pretty, but this apparently is no great handicap. She gained her proficiency, by starting young and having a number of brothers.

"Don't misunderstand," she cautioned. "Jack doesn't throw with all his speed or give me any breaking stuff. He just limbers up. He forgets now and then, though, and cuts one loose on me. One of them knocked me flat on my back and I told him any more of that and he'd have to find himself another catcher."

Harshman has been pitching seriously only the last couple of years after a not-too-brilliant career as a first baseman, and feels he has a lot of catching up to do in a hurry.

"We'd keep going to the Giants' camp every spring and they'd keep sending us down," Mrs. Harshman recalls. "We could see we weren't getting anywhere at first. Jack had been watching the pitchers and he could throw hard, so we thought why not give it a whirl."

The Giants had something like $100,000 invested in Harshman during the five years he knocked around their farm system as a first baseman and a pitcher. After last season, when he burned up the Southern Association with a 23-7 record at Nashville, they let him go to the White Sox for cash and players estimated at another $100,000.

(Harshman played with Victoria Athletics in 1947 and led the Western International League in home runs as a first baseman.)

Bigger UIC Benefits Asked As Fund Nears $1 Billion

By the end of this year the national unemployment insurance fund will be near the $1,000,000,000 mark, Ed Duncan reported to members of the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council Wednesday night.

"We should take steps to see that the government does not divert this money to other channels and urge all our national labor bodies to reiterate their former stand that benefits should be increased and the waiting period reduced," he said. He is chairman of the council's unemployment committee.

Mr. Duncan was of the opinion any worker who got sick and could not continue with his job should be entitled to unemployment insurance benefits.

Unionist Blasts Ottawa 'McCarthyism'

John Aubry, business agent for the Victoria retail clerks' union, let go a blistering attack on what he classed "McCarthyism tactics" being practiced in Ottawa, at a meeting of the Victoria Trades and Labor Council Wednesday night.

"People whose loyalty is questioned are being let out without explanation. They are not given a fair trial," Mr. Aubry charged.

Referring to the local library case he commented "I thought it stank."

"They are practising fascism as we knew it in Italy and Germany—if you don't yell loud enough for the party in power," the clerk's agent said.

He said the Ottawa practice was leaving a smear on people that would stay on them for life.

Council decided to look further into the matter and adjourned it for discussion at the next meeting.

40-Year Repayment Limit On PGE $30 Million Loan

The $30,000,000 PGE extension loan bill was introduced in the Legislature Wednesday.

When enacted, either the B.C. government or the Pacific Great Eastern Railway can borrow $30,000,000 at interest rates not exceeding 5 per cent.

Money would be used for PGE extensions into the Peace River Block and from Squamish to Vancouver.

The bill would require the company to establish a sinking fund to pay off the debt in 40 years.

Either the province may borrow the money, or the company, with the province guaranteeing payments.

Canadian and U.S. dollars are assumed to be of equivalent value for borrowing purposes.

The appeal was made by Rae Eddie, CCF member for New Westminster.

But the rest of Mr. Eddie's remarks didn't please the Government side.

He said that though Social Credit campaigned on the platform of lowered sales tax, a policy endorsed by former finance minister Einar Gunderson during the Victoria by-election, B.C.'s new 5 per cent levy would be the highest sales tax on the continent.

UNSOUND BASIS

Mr. Eddie said the tax would not be on a sound basis because if recession set in, or widespread strikes took place, the money would just not be forthcoming to meet hospital obligations.

Public acceptance of the tax-hike plan would depend on whether or not Ottawa granted exemption on income tax returns for the bills B.C. pays for those hospitalized, he said.

Mr. Eddie supported Liberal leader Arthur Laing's statement that unemployment in B.C. was higher than anywhere else in Canada. It was, he told the House, 76.3 per cent higher than the Canadian average, based on the average of registered unemployed.

Labor Minister Lyle Wicks asked: "Do you believe it is only the unemployed here that are registered?"

Said Mr. Eddie: "No, there are lots more not registered."

Briefs presented the cabinet explained needs of labor, he said, but there had been no presentations from management. This was needed to establish "industrial harmony."

$1,100 Asked For Oak Bay Playgrounds

A delegation from the Oak Bay Playground Committee asked the municipal council Wednesday for a $1,100 grant—an increase of $400 over last year—to enable them to employ a full-time organizer.

Last year about 600 children were given play and handicraft instruction and the delegates predicted that an additional 100 or 150 children could participate in classes this year.

It was suggested that the council pay salaries of an organizer, supervisor and assistants, and that the parents pay for all equipment needed.

The matter will be taken up when estimates are discussed, Reeve Fred E. Norris told the delegation.

Esquimalt Ratepayers Start Third Year; Elect 11-Man Executive, Ask New Light

Esquimalt Ratepayers' Association elected their 1954 president Wednesday night but because of a last-minute change in the constitution, no one will know who is president until April 7.

Prior to the elections, a motion was submitted by Les Fuller that the association should elect an 11-man executive and let those members elected choose their own president, secretary and treasurer.

The meeting adopted the motion when Mr. Fuller explained that the new system would make it easier to find nominees when the top executive post was not specifically mentioned. Once on the executive, he thought, a member was less apt to dodge the position.

He also pointed out that under the present arrangement, if a president resigns midway through his term of office, the office is left vacant until the next annual meeting. G. K. Sammon, Esquimalt councillor seconded his resolution.

Accordingly, the meeting elected by acclamation the following eleven men: Les Fuller, Tom Flanagan, D. D. Clarke, Les Brown, Roy Simmons, Guy Smith, Benjamin Caley, Bert Hart, retiring acting-president; S. Armstrong, Dr. W. B. Smith, and John Bark.

The executive will meet April 7 to name its officers.

Clr. G. K. Sammon, who chaired the elections, applauded the fact that the association is entering its third years of existence, "free of cliques" and working with unity for Esquimalt.

In a brief business session the association approved a motion to urge council to approach the E and N Railway for a red flashing light to be installed at a railway crossing on Lampson Street.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Los Angeles Rams have announced they will play two exhibition football games in Portland this summer. First will be against New York Giants Aug. 8 and the second against Chicago Cardinals Sept. 4.

4 Britons Who Engineered Coup At Racetrack Sent to Jail

LONDON (Reuters)—Four men were sentenced to prison Wednesday for a horse-switch betting plot fit for the pen of the late Damon Runyon.

For five weeks, sad and bright race track figures crowded the sombre Old Bailey courtroom to give their version of what happened in a race at the Bath track last summer.

The judge took three days to sum up the evidence about an unknown but fleet horse being switched at the last moment for a slow nag.

One man was acquitted and the other defendants were sentenced to terms ranging from nine months to three years.

Convicted were:

Harry Kateley, 42-year-old London bookie, named the ring-leader of the sensational racing coup. He was sentenced to three years.

Burly William Maurice Williams, 47, a professional gambler, and Gomer Charles, 46-year-old Welsh bookie, who were both jailed for two years.

Victor Dill, 56, retired army colonel. He was sentenced to nine months.

William Rook, 57-year-old mechanical engineer, was found not guilty.

Williams and Charles—the wealthiest of the convicted quartet — were also ordered to pay between them £4,500 ($12,600) toward the cost of their own prosecution.

All five had pleaded not guilty to conspiring to cheat the Bath Race Course Company by running a swift horse named Santa Amaro for a plodder named Francasal.

One day last July a horse, supposed to be Francasal, an unimpressive French nag, flashed past the winning post. Railbirds were surprised because Francasal was never known for speed. Then race course police found that the phone cable linking the course with outside bookies had been cut just before the race.

The wire-cutting job kept the odds on Francasal high. Otherwise bookies would have reduced them, for Kateley, Williams and company had backed the horse heavily.

The conspirators had hoped to win about £60,000 ($168,000) but they never collected. Payment of bets was suspended and Scotland Yard detectives were called in to investigate.

Belmont, Mount View Schools Draw Commendation From Dram a Adjudicator

A country high school—Belmont—and a Mount View High School student, received some of the highest praise given this week so far, in the Greater Victoria Schools Drama Festival Wednesday night.

The session took place at Mount View High School and was well attended. Vancouver adjudicator, Sydney Risk, who is doing so much to promote understanding, not only among the actors but with the audiences as well, gave kindly, but shrewd and constructive criticism at the end of the evening.

"WAYSIDE WAR"
By Margaret Napier
Presented by Mount View High School
Cast:
The Colonel ..... Grant Thwaites
Alicia Pemberton ..... Sylvia Redd
The Sergeant ..... Barry Hagan
Susan ..... Diane Woodward
The Ostler ..... Douglas Bell
Director—Miss E. Piggot

Mr. Risk was greatly impressed with the performance of Sylvia Rodd in this period play. It was the best piece of acting he had seen so far in the festival, he declared. She had a fine, flexible voice, beautiful enunciation and played altogether with great charm. She also had the ability to "point a comedy line," he further commented.

"THE RED VELVET GOAT"
By Josephina Niggli
Presented by Belmont High School
Cast:
Esteban who longs to own a goat ..... David Gurr
Mariana, his wife ..... Gail Thompson
Lorenzo, their son ..... Bernard Wachter
Lola, a village girl ..... Carol Sudhues
Esther, a village girl with whom Lorenzo is in love ..... Sheila Hope
Carmen, a village girl ..... Maxine Fraser
Ramon, a pedler of women's clothing ..... Frank Mitchell
Don Pepe, the mayor of the town ..... Bob Mitchell
Dona Berta, a grand lady of the town ..... Caroline Futcher
Other villagers ..... Pat Ranns, Karin Schneider, Marilyn Moseley, Norman Woodcock, Robin Kitching, Robin Robertson, Lawrence Kitchin
Director—Mrs. Hace Sullivan

This Mexican folk play had been given "a delightful performance," Mr. Risk declared enthusiastically. It was played with vitality and zest at an intelligent farce level. The entire cast maintained a uniform standard, even to the smallest bit part, he considered. Costuming was good and pace excellent.

"THE CENTURION'S BILLET AT SWACKING BULPHEN"
By A. J. Talbot
Presented by Mount View High School
Cast:
Astel ..... Donna Middleton
Balbus ..... Barry Brown
The Centurion ..... Albert Eccles
Cadwol ..... Dick Pearce
Cadwol's Wife ..... Beverley Keuhl
Mordred ..... Diana Scobie
Clauden ..... Marjorie Swain
Director—C. G. Thomson

This was a very difficult play to do but it had succeeded to a certain extent, the adjudicator considered. A satire, involving juxtaposition of Latin cliches with commonplace English, it required a specialized audience for full appreciation. Mr. Risk singled out Albert Eccles for particular praise, saying that he had played with a real understanding of the humor involved.

Oaklands School auditorium, where the afternoon session was held, was filled to capacity, only those who had bought tickets in advance were able to be accommodated.

A remarkable feature of the afternoon was that each play on the program was an original adaptation by the teacher who directed it.

Mr. Risk was delighted with what he saw. Concerning audibility, he commended the natural resonance of the very young voices, saying if screeching was resorted to, irreparable harm could be done.

He suggested that plays for younger grades should lay stress on choral singing, color, music and a rough and tumble brand of humor.

"BLUE SHOE"
By L. E. Johnston
Presented by Oaklands Elementary School
Cast:
Betty Blue ..... Heather Campbell
Tinker (Betty's dog) ..... Robert Atherton
Simple Simon ..... Wayne Buckley
Humpty Dumpty ..... Tommy McCaig
Mother Goose ..... Margaret Harrison
Old Woman in the Shoe ..... Darla Ware
Her children ..... Marian Polz, Linda Pye, Adela Daley, June Horseman, Robp Zerkee, Charlet Riggs, Yvonne La Roche, Marie Logan, Cecilia Doucet, Barbara Warren, Linda Williams, Linda Tonkin
Miss Muffet ..... Carol Bishop
Spider ..... Eva Strzelecki
Boy Blue ..... Flavel Hall
Farmer-in-the-Dell ..... Lois Crawford
King's Men ..... David Jones, Jimmy Edwards, John Clemens, David Evans, Ray Saxon, Paul Mitchell
King Cole ..... Doyle McHaffie
Town Crier ..... Wilfred Low
Bo Peep ..... Bonnie Sherman
Jack ..... Shane Duggan
Jill ..... Carol Stiles
Tom Tinker ..... John Anderson
Fine Lady ..... Heather Smith
Cobblers ..... Dave Feathery, Michele Anderson, Barbara Podhister, Joan Murphy
Director—Mrs. L. E. Johnston

This play was presented by Grade II pupils and every child in the class was included in the cast. Mr. Risk was especially pleased with its naive quality involving so much of the child's imagination. There was plenty of color and excellent costumes, he remarked.

"LITTLE RED RIDING HOOD"
By Miss Margaret McCurrach
Presented by Oaklands School
Cast:
Little Red Riding Hood ..... Margaret Dohm
Mother ..... Brenda Swait
Father ..... Roy Kirk
Grandmother ..... Louise Fraser
Wolf ..... George Cockburn
Birds ..... Danny George, Peter Mortenson, John Hunter, David Sarginson
Rabbits ..... John Farmere, Jim Lysne, Gray Muir, Wayne Virtue
Squirrels ..... David Munro, Lance Jones, Gary Bertham
Bears ..... Pat Horgan, Wayne Butterfield, Jim Palmer, Albert Vanderveide
Flowers ..... Catherine Ward, Gail Brayshaw, Mary Lou Burton, Sandra Bray, Katherine Thorburn
Butterflies ..... Beth Jenkins, Charlie Biggs, Merrilla Reid
Teddy Bears ..... Wayne Speidel, Reginald Fisher, Paul Carnes
Director—Miss M. McCurrach

This too revealed the same charming childish qualities that were most desirable for this age group, the adjudicator commented. The setting was charming and the costumes really amazing, he thought.

"LITTLE BLACK SAMBO"
By M. McMillan
Presented by Willows School
Cast:
Little Black Sambo ..... Jane Turner
Black Jumbo ..... Peter Horwood
Black Mumbo ..... Libby Burns
First Tiger ..... Alison Daysmith
Second Tiger ..... Brian Fraser
Third Tiger ..... Lois Golby
Fourth Tiger ..... Heather Waters
Director—Miss M. McMillan

The simple but effective setting drew praise from the adjudicator. He said the enunciation might have been a little clearer and the tigers just a bit more fierce.

"THE MAD TEA-PARTY"
Adapted from Lewis Carroll
Presented by Cedar Hill School
Cast:
Alice ..... Joanne Dunn
Alice ..... Lois Carr
Alice ..... Beverley Sparrow
Caterpillar ..... Bob Painter
Hatter ..... Gary Morton
March Hare ..... Terry Rendle
Dormouse ..... John Ball
Director—W. Paul Smith

The first scene was quite delightful, especially the mushroom, Mr. Risk remarked. He considered the humor of Lewis Carroll's masterpiece actually quite sophisticated and a little beyond the very young actors.

Mount View High School Band, under direction of F. Huber, played during the evening intermissions.

Further Talks Scheduled On Nanaimo Mill Shutdown

NANAIMO — Chester Swanson, Nanaimo Yacht Club commodore, on Wednesday denied any "obstruction" by his club of Eureka Sawmills' proposal to establish a log sorting ground in Echo Bay on Newcastle Island.

Arthur Sereth, mill operator, this week ordered the mill closed March 31, claiming the yacht club protest was the "last straw." The mill employs 100 persons and has an annual payroll of $600,000.

The island is owned by the CPR. Mr. Swanson said the yacht club had urged four years ago that the bay be kept open as a mooring for visiting yachts, but added that if the CPR permitted the use of the bay as a sorting ground, there was little use the club protesting.

Junior Chamber of Commerce plans to meet with the yacht club on the matter, and Tony Poje, president of IMA Local 1-80, has discussed it with Mayor George Muir. Mayor Muir said he had not been approached by the company, but that the council would be willing to meet Mr. Sereth.

Works Dept. Asks $312,904 In Saanich

$60,000 Road Allocation Sought

Saanich public works department proposes to spend a sum of $312,904 on road and sidewalk construction, drainage projects, parks, equipment and street lighting this year.

The works budget for 1954 will be submitted to Saanich Council for approval by Councillor George Austin, chairman of the public works committee.

Major expenditures in the budget is $60,000 for road construction and drainage projects.

The works department also proposes sidewalk construction at a proposed cost of $29,000 and $2,500 for street lighting.

NEW EQUIPMENT

New equipment purchases are estimated at $8,500. These include the cost of a road centre-lining machine which has already been placed in estimates.

A sum of $5,000 is also requested for municipal parks.

The budget includes a sum of $3,600 for cleaning a Ruby Road ditch from Gordon Head to Shelbourne.

An expenditure of $16,000 is proposed for the installation of permanent culverts in built-up areas.

Clr. Austin said the works department is also asking for $14,900 to continue its works in replacing old wooden bridges with permanent concrete structures, and $5,185 for removal of rocks on some roads as a safety measure.

Another $2,500 is proposed for street lighting including the intersection of Royal Oak Avenue and Patricia Bay Highway.

Dr. J. W. Elbert listed the condition of the weaker side as "serious." The child was born to Mrs. Cecil Hartley here three months ago.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Social services director J. I. Chambers said Wednesday 40 families and 180 single men have applied for relief so far under the city-provincial plan to provide aid for destitute employables.

"All you can do is wait and see," Elbert said. "I wouldn't consider his condition critical."

Elbert added that he would rush the child to James Whitcomb Riley Memorial Hospital in Indianapolis if he became any worse.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

I have just been informed this is National Aspirin Week.

I don't know how you feel about National Weeks, but I have a personal compulsion to co-operate to the best of my ability.

Therefore, I am going out right now to make myself a headache.

Care to join me?

Sometime in the near future, we are due for another Week.

This is to be called National Baby Week.

Don't know as yet just how I'll co-operate during National Baby Week.

It is so much easier to have a headache than a baby. . . .

A rumor has just floated in, to the effect a National Mayonnaise Week is in the planning stages.

This is too much.

I am going to get up a petition against it.

Care to sign? (Your right name, that is).

I am not often able to figure out the answer to the popular Times feature "Fun with Figures," but I was able to solve yesterday's problem in nothing flat.

As you may remember, this had to do with two salesmen named Jim and Joe, comparing notes on their expense accounts.

Said Joe: "Last week I spent as much on Monday as on Wednesday, on Tuesday five bucks less than on Friday; on Thursday I spent two dollars more than the amount by which Tuesday's expenses were less than Monday's, and on Wednesday I spent more than six dollars.

"The funny thing was that each day's expenses came to an exact number of dollars with no odd cents, and altogether I spent just 29 dollars."

The problem, as posed by the conductor of the Fun with Figures department, was: How much did Joe spend on Friday?

The answer is simple.

After turning in an expense account like that, Joe spent his severance pay.

I see where some of the aldermen don't wish to have any help in spending the $50,000 provincial grant.

I guess with the practice they've had, they could get rid of fifty grand before breakfast.

Seriously, I hope the city council's penchant for secrecy doesn't extend to the spending of this grant.

It would be nice if we could see where it is gone, after it is gone.

City Asks B.C. Make Survey On Assessments

Finance Committee Seeks Early Start

The city will apply to the provincial government to have its newly-formed assessment equalization commission make a survey this year to bring about equalization of assessments throughout the Greater Victoria School District.

City Council's finance committee called for the survey today on recommendation of City Manager Cecil Wyatt. Mr. Wyatt noted equalization throughout the school district had been talked about for some time, and that from the city's point of view now was the opportune time for the job to be undertaken.

He hoped the equalization in this district might be completed this year so that if any changes were found to be necessary, they could be made before the 1955 assessment rolls were prepared.

The city has just completed a five-year reassessment program of its own, establishing the value of all buildings on a standard basis. Because of this, the city's assessment index is ready now for all new cards.

If the government undertakes its reassessment program early, replacement of the cards can wait until then, so that the job won't have to be done twice, Mr. Wyatt said.

Greater Victoria School District 61 embraces Victoria, Oak Bay, Esquimalt, most of Saanich and View Royal.

Provision for bringing about equalization of assessments throughout the whole of the province is intended as part of the government's Rolston Formula. A bill setting up the commission to do this job was introduced in the Legislature last year. Appointments to key posts in the new department have only recently been made, however.

Robert Lindgren . . . a new world to conquer.

FROM TV TO MUSICAL

Victoria Dancer Stars on Broadway

Robert Lindgren, well-known Victoria ballet dancer and television star, has signed a contract to be leading dancer in the Rogers and Hammerstein musical comedy of the New York stage, "Me and Juliet."

Mr. Lindgren, son of Mrs. Rene Lindgren, 1724 Coronation Avenue, starred with both the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo and Ballet Theatre.

He has just completed a contract with the television program "Show of Shows," starring Sid Caesar and Imogene Coca.

"Me and Juliet" is his first venture into musical comedy, but he is no stranger to speaking parts, however, since he won the R. S. Hurn Cup in the 1936 Victoria Drama Festival for his part in "Street Scene." He studied speech with Miss Vivienne Combe.

TIMES CARRIER

Born and educated in Victoria, he was a Victoria Daily Times carrier and received his early dancing lessons here.

He has retained his Canadian citizenship, despite reports to the contrary, and is quite emphatic in his insistence on being recognized as a Canadian dancer.

Although he started in the musical Monday, he will be seen in three more TV shows made in advance.

His wife, Sonja Taanila, is a ballerina in the Rogers and Hammerstein production.

MLA Seeks List Of City Liquor License Queries

A local MLA has made a move to obtain information on the number and types of liquor licenses applied for in Victoria.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner and Liquor Control Board Chairman D. McGugan have kept silent on the subject.

The deadline for liquor license applications was March 10.

On Tuesday, George Gregory, Victoria Liberal member put a question on the Legislature order papers asking the number of dining lounge licenses, hotel, club, restaurant, public house and resort licenses applied for locally.

The feeling is that such information is public business and that the people have a right to know who is involved, who is preferred, and why.

BCHIS Refunds To Individual Not Employer

Individuals who have paid into hospital insurance and who had a portion of their premiums paid by their employer will receive the entire amount in refunds from BCHIS, the health and welfare department announced today.

The money paid into the service was on behalf of the individual and as such either the money or the protection it afforded belong to the individual, the department said.

In most cases individuals were responsible for their own prepayments and it is that prepayment that will be refunded.

When BCHIS started operation employees were required to pay six months in advance. Since July of last year no prepayment has been made by persons entering upon payroll deduction plans, so these persons will not receive a refund unless there is a credit balance to the individual's account from previous payments.

Gorge Park Favored By Esquimalt Group

Esquimalt ratepayers put the stamp of approval on plans of the Gorge Waterways and Park Improvement Association Wednesday night, but in principle only. Ful' sanction will await disclosure of the financial outlay required.

The annual meeting of the ratepayers at Esquimalt High School heard an address by president of the Gorge reclamation group, Geoffrey Edgelow, city alderman.

He told of the birth of the Gorge Association in early February and urged the ratepayers' association to push the matter before Esquimalt council, provincial and federal elected representatives and their neighbors.

About 35 members heard him prior to the annual election of officers. When the time for new business rolled around some members of the audience had questions for Mr. Edgelow, but he had left the hall.

COST IS KEY

The decision was that the plan sounded feasible and the Esquimalt Ratepayers' Association was ready to offer support. But general approbation will be withheld until the dollars and cents aspects are more fully examined.

Alderman Edgelow brought greetings from City Council to the Esquimalt residents and complimented Reeve A. C. Wurtele and his council on the roads program undertaken by the municipality.

He made reference to the "suffering" experienced by the municipality because of federal government delays in agreeing to share expense of upkeep on those roads, such as Admirals, which are subjected to heavy defense department use.

Swinging to the main subject, he recalled the days, "about 30 years ago" when the Gorge was a popular playground before sewage polluted the water.

He pointed out that Esquimalt sewers will no longer drain into the Gorge by the end of 1955 and Saanich sewers will be diverted by 1956. Therefore, he thought the time for reclamation planning was now.

HELP PROMISED

He spoke of assurances from federal and provincial government members of assistance if the people of the district show enough interest in the project.

As a result of the first meeting of the Gorge group, committees are already investigating the dredging of silt from the waterway, possibly at a cost of 1½ cents a yard.

Also under consideration is a plan to cut a channel through the neck of land separating Thetis Cove in Esquimalt Harbor and Portage Inlet. But, he pointed out, this would be costly and might have the effect of lowering the temperature of Gorge waters.

He also pointed out that there is a difference of nine feet in the level of the two bodies of water which would create complications.

He told the meeting that artistic architectural plans for landscaping of the project are being prepared.

Mr. Edgelow added that he thought a fund drive might be started which would "force the hand" of the civic, provincial and federal governments.

"If the Gorge was as pleasant as it was 30 years ago, what could it be today in this modern world of ours?" he concluded.

One-Way Streets Forum Planned

Robert Doble, city traffic engineer, will be chief speaker at an open forum meeting on one-way streets Friday at 3 p.m. at the Chamber of Commerce boardroom.

It will be sponsored by the civic affairs group of the chamber, and it is understood representatives of Fort Street business firms, that have objected to the one-way street system, will attend.

Mr. Doble's address will be followed by a question and discussion period.

Chairman will be Aubrey Kent.

Second 3-Year Term Given for Burglary

FOUR TAG DAYS APPROVED, FIVE REJECTED FOR 1954

City Council's finance committee gave approval today for four tag days during 1954.

It decided tag days should be allowed the Women's Auxiliary to Royal Jubilee Hospital, the Solarium Junior League, the Victoria Nursing Home Society and the Remembrance Day Committee, the same four organizations allowed tag days last year.

The committee rejected applications from the Lions Club Carnation Day Committee, the Old Age Pensioners' Organization, Branch No. 5, the Junior Auxiliary to the B.C. Protestant Orphanage and the Cerebral Palsy Association of Lower Vancouver Island.

The committee's decision will be submitted to City Council at its next meeting for endorsation.

Capital Commission Scheme Ridiculed

5 Aldermen Oppose Black's Plan For Administering New $50,000 Grant

A provincial government plan to have a six-man commission administer a $50,000 capital city grant, and make certain the money is spent on beautification, has met with mixed reaction from members of city council.

Five of the eight aldermen object to the commission idea; two think it is in order; one declined comment.

The commission was announced Wednesday by Provincial Secretary Wesley Black. He said the commission would be composed of three deputy ministers and three members of City Council.

He emphasized the commission's function would be to carry out the government's intention of having the grant used for "beautification of the capital city."

Council members who believe the commission unnecessary are Ald. Frank Mulliner, Ald. Margaret Christie, Ald. Robert Macmillan, Ald. William Pinfold and Ald. Arthur Dowell. All agree $50,000 is far below what was expected.

TOP-HEAVY SETUP

Ald. Mulliner's comment: "For a little thing like $50,000, it seems like a top-heavy setup to me."

Others used such expressions as "ridiculous," "silly" and "stupid."

Ald. Brent Murdoch and Ald. Millard Mooney said they felt there could be no objection to the commission idea.

"There's a great difference between a grant for beautification and a grant in lieu of taxes," Ald. Murdoch submitted. "If this is to be a grant from the provincial government solely for beautification then I believe they should have some say on how it is to be spent to ensure that the money does not go into general revenue."

TAXES FAVORED

He emphasized, however, that he regarded this as quite apart from the taxation question, and felt it did not weaken the city's argument that it should receive direct taxes on the province's holdings here.

Ald. Mooney took a similar stand. "If it is intended as a gift for a specific purpose, then there is no harm in a small commission. But I say they should pay taxes the same as anyone else. And their tax money would be used in the same way as anyone else's."

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow declined comment.

The grant was discussed in the Legislature Wednesday by Victoria Liberal MLA George Gregory, who expressed disappointment with the amount but favored a committee to administer it because of "very little co-operation from the mayor."

The Liberal member suggested the money could first be spent on improvements in the tourist-attractive area north of the Legislative buildings, and perhaps east to Cook Street.

Because city coffers suffer from the cost of keeping the capital in presentable appearance, to the benefit of the provincial government seat as well, Mr. Gregory did not think the grant should be made "in lieu of taxes," but should be an outright donation to the city.

He pointed out that among other provincial capitals St. John's, Nfld., received $100,000 yearly; Toronto gets $25,000, and Charlottetown, P.E.I., $18,000.

LEGISLATURE SPEAKERS

Continuing the budget debate in the Legislature tonight at the 8.30 sitting will be Bert Price (SC, Vancouver Burrard), Arthur Laing (Lib., Vancouver-Point Grey) and Herbert Bruch (SC, Esquimalt).

Scheduled to speak Friday are E. E. Winch (CCF, Burnaby) and Public Works Minister P. A. Gaglardi.

Capt. Welland to Command New RCN Cadet School Here

Commanding officer of HMCS Venture, new RCN cadet training school to be opened this fall at Esquimalt, will be Capt. Robert P. Welland.

Capt. Welland, who will arrive here from naval headquarters early this summer, is well known on this coast, and for several years was attached to the Pacific Command. He was commanding officer of HMCS Athabaskan on her first Korean tour, and was decorated for "the dash and skill" shown as commanding officer.

In HMCS Venture he will have 150 cadets who sign up for a seven-year "hitch," with the option of transferring to the permanent force at any time after they attain midshipman's rank.

Capt. Welland states the navy hopes a "large proportion" of the cadets will transfer to the permanent force.

He was commanding officer of the Canadian naval contingent at the Coronation, and received his captain's stripes last June.

Executive officer of Venture will also be a man well known on this coast. Cmdr. Ray Phillips, who arrives here April 19, is a former commanding officer of HMCS Antigonish.

INSECTICIDE KILLS CALIFORNIA BOY

Expert Warns Against Garden Sprays

An insecticide which took the life of a California boy and seriously injured his four-year-old sister prompted a provincial horticulturist today to warn city gardeners against careless handling of dangerous pest-destroying sprays.

Allan Littler, department of agriculture, said many of the garden sprays on the market are highly dangerous and could kill a human if handled carelessly.

"These insecticides are safe providing they are used according to instructions and with extreme care," he said. "The pest destroyers should be kept away from children or animals."

LETHAL ON SKIN

Mr. Littler said many people did not realize that some of the insecticides did not have to be taken internally to cause injury. Some sprays, he pointed out, penetrate the skin and attack the respiratory system.

The California boy who died, and his injured sister, were affected by a garden spray known as Tetraethylpyrophosphate. They found the insecticide in a barn and made mud pies with it. The boy died on his way to hospital.

MADE IN VANCOUVER

The insecticide, better known in British Columbia as TEPP, is being sold in Victoria stores. It is manufactured by a Vancouver firm.

The garden spray is being sold in bottles which carry the warning sign of the "skull and cross-bones," and instructions that it should not be used near children or animals.

Most dangerous insecticides have the word "poison" clarely marked on the labels.

Dealers said they did not know why the word poison had been omitted from the TEPP label.

Neighbor Wins Credit

Housebreaker Leo Allen, 45, 1203 Blanshard, was sentenced to three years in penitentiary by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court today. He was caught Tuesday while looting the home of Alfred Fowles, 499 St. Charles Street.

Credited with his capture was a neighbor, Mrs. Mary Jones, who was suspicious when she saw Allen in the Fowles home while the family was absent in California. In spite of his assurance that he was a relative of the family, Mrs. Jones called police.

As well as the fact that Allen's pockets were filled with stolen items, his record was against him. He has been in jail almost continually since 1938 following convictions in centres across Canada.

He was the second housebreaker to be sentenced to three years in two days. Wednesday, Raymond Stephen Fogg, 25, New England Hotel, was sentenced after admitting to three city break-ins.

Both men were arrested due to prompt actions of neighbors of the victims, who called for police when they noticed unusual occurrences.

According to the Criminal Code of Canada, as amended in 1950, the maximum sentence for breaking and entering a dwelling is life imprisonment. Breaking and entering business premises carries a maximum of 14 years.

CKDA $100,000 Expansion Plan Waits CBC O.K.

New transmitter, increase in power, and change in frequency for radio station CKDA are planned by owner-manager David M. Armstrong in a $100,000 expansion program now awaiting approval of the CBC Board of Governors.

The application for the increase and frequency change has been made to the CBC, and Mr. Armstrong, with lawyer James J. Proudfoot, will appear before the board in Ottawa April 2 to support the application.

Increase in power to 5,000 watts, and frequency change to 1,280 kilocycles, is being sought.

If CBC approves, the station transmitter will be moved from Gordon Head to a location on the Chatham Island Indian Reserve, off Oak Bay. Three 150-foot towers would be built, and a submarine cable would connect the new transmitter to the studios in the Douglas Hotel.

Union Charges Bosses Exploit New Canadians

Some employers in this area are exploiting immigrant labor, it is claimed by Victor Midgley of the Carpenters' Union.

He told a meeting of the Victoria Trades and Labor Council Wednesday night immigrants were being worked "ridiculous hours and for less pay."

Mr. Midgley urged all delegates present "to keep an eye open" for cases where employees are being worked contrary to the minimum wage hours of work acts and to report them direct to the B.C. Department of Labor.

Children running in a darkened theatre aisle sent an elderly woman to hospital Wednesday.

Miss Minnie Hooper, 76, 1126 Richardson, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital by city police at about 4 p.m. with back injuries suffered when she was knocked down by children swarming in the aisle at the Plaza Theatre.

Following X-rays, Miss Hooper was released at 7.45 p.m. but collapsed again before she could be driven home. She is in good condition today, hospital authorities said.

His first accident in 40 years cost William C. Gordon, 1746 Pembroke a $35 fine and caused a total of $250 in damages. Charged with careless driving in city police court today, Gordon escaped suspension of license because of his good driving record. Magistrate H. C. Hall also agreed that the scene of the collision, Richmond and Fort was a dangerous corner and contributed to the mishap.

"Fined $35—$1 down and a dollar a week, with no carrying charges—next case."

It may not come to that, but city police court magistrate, H. C. Hall, went on record Wednesday as favoring payment of court fines by instalment.

Commenting on Canadian Criminal Code amendments along those lines, he said, "I am all for it."

The magistrate admitted that he frequently gives a wrongdoer additional time to pay a fine, but as the act is now, we can't take fines on instalments. Under the liquor act fines are payable forthwith.

The amendment to the criminal code was approved Monday at Ottawa.

City Council's finance committee today rejected a request of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, seeking exemption from taxation on church-owned property at the rear of what used to be Prince Robert House.

The committee decided it could not consider exempting the property until such time as it is used for church purposes.

The property is held as the intended site for a church hall. General policy of council is to exempt church halls from taxation so long as they are used exclusively for church functions.

CCF opposition leader Arnold Webster is scheduled to introduce a resolution in the Legislature asking introduction of an act to protect civil rights to be known as the B.C. Bill of Rights.

Notice of the resolution was given today in the House order papers.

The act would eliminate any discrimination because of religious beliefs, guarantee free expression and secure other democratic principles because "no minority . . . should be debarred from enjoyment of rights and responsibilities of full citizenship."

FUN WITH FIGURES

By J. A. HUNTER

There's nothing very special to tell about Tam, Tim and Tom: they're just three regular young men, much the same as any others whom you see every day going to the office in the morning. In fact, my only reason for mentioning them at all is that there's a rather peculiar connection between their ages. Tam is four times as old as Tim was when Tom was Tim's present age. When Tim is the same age as Tom is now, the ages of these three friends will then total 120 years. It only remains for you to figure out Tim's age.

Wednesday's Answer: Jim spent six dollars on Friday.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—Is it possible for the B.C. Department of Municipal Affairs to step in if the mayor of a city oversteps his powers and infringes on the democratic rights of the people?—F.T.T.

A.—Officials point out the functions of the department do not include intervention between elected representatives of the people. Decisions of the city council are made by majority vote of the council, not by any individual or any department.

Q.—Some years ago Miliza Korjus sang in Victoria. Will you please tell me what year that was, and where she is now, and, if possible, how old she would be?—Mrs. D.M.W.

A.—She sang at the Royal Victoria Theatre Feb. 3, 1945. As to where the famous coloratura is at present no information has come in recent dispatches. She was born in Warsaw, Poland, but as to the year, available biographies are silent while stating it was on Aug. 17. She has a daughter more than 19 years of age.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

Old-Fashioned Patch Boxes For Latest Powder Veil

By PENNY SAVER

An authentic Napoleonic patch box inspired this one! As far as those plastic powder compacts go, it's the latest and one of the most attractive yet, I'd say. It comes in wine, pink, black, white and navy, crested in gold with the letter "N" and lots of fancy swirls and squiggles.

Here I am raving about the jazzy container . . . not even mentioning the contents. After all, you don't pay $2.25 for a fancy compact with nothing inside!

A powder, given the name "invisible veil" fills your new "patch box," and I'm sure you'll be overjoyed when you try it, especially if you have a few tell-tale lines that need blotting out in a huryy.

This powder is creamy, amazingly light in texture and covers your face with sheer translucent flattery . . . never flies or mists as you use it . . . perfect to carry in your handbag for quick beauty touch-ups.

* * *

It must be nearly two years ago since the fad of wearing those gold-braid crests on sweaters and blazers became popular. This spring we find a variation on the theme in a recently arrived crest shipment from India.

These are different, in that they are fashioned of tiny seed pearls on a backing of rich red velvet. Think of one of these crests on a navy or black basic . . . mmmmmh!

I'm not even going to attempt to tell you about the designs, except to say that there were many attractive ones in various sizes, ranging in price from 98 cents to $1.75.

* * *

There's nothing very exciting about buying a knitting bag, but if you're doing some knitting you should have one and if you're going to have one, you might as well get a good one . . . right?

The one I'm suggesting is roomy, made of plastic with a pair of holes just in case your needles are a little long, and is complete with identification card . . . $1.39.

Oh, yes. It's also got a handle for carrying purposes.

St. Joseph's Linen Shower Brings Many Donations

Sunshine streaming through the long windows to touch arrangements of spring blossoms placed around the spacious room created the setting, in the lecture hall at the Nurses' Home, for annual linen shower and tea sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary to St. Joseph's Hospital, Wednesday afternoon.

Auxiliary president Mrs. A. Johnsen received guests with Sister Superior of the hospital, Mrs. J. D. Gillis and the general convener of the affair Mrs. J. A. McLellan.

Presiding at the head tea table, which was covered with an exquisite lace cloth and centred with a bowl of daffodils and tulips, flanked by cream toned candles in silver holders, were Mrs. H. C. O'Halloran, Mrs. J. H. Moore and Mrs. J. M. Fowler.

Mrs. M. E. Donavan and Mrs. G. Colby acted as serviteurs, assisted by young nurses from the hospital in crisp white dresses, aprons and caps.

Door donations were in charge of Mrs. G. A. Cooney and Miss F. M. Compton; linens, Mrs. H. A. Humber, Mrs. J. R. O'Brien and Mrs. J. P. Watson. Mrs. Peter Sallaway was in charge of tea arrangements.

Sister Mary Clementina presented a group of St. Ann's Convent pupils in a short program including pianoforte numbers by Joan Zanichelli and Elizabeth Ciceri; vocal solo, Sally Seymour and a chorus group, Paula Bouz, Deanna Le Blanc, Janet Cox, Ann Davies and Sally Seymour.

The 279 linen donations included blankets, sheets, towels, pillow slips, pillows, and a special donation of 48 woolen blankets and four feather pillows from Mayo Singh. Cash donations totaled $379.

Presentation—At meeting of the Junior Auxiliary to the British Columbia Protestant Orphanage, held at the home of Mrs. Bernard Shaw, 879 Transit Road, a presentation of linen was made to bride-elect, Miss Carol McGillivary, who will leave the city following her forthcoming marriage. Wool and materials for bazaar items were distributed.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

A recent letter from a man stimulated this column.

He said, "I often read your column and wonder what your opinion is concerning the following question. Do you think that a man should shave under his arms and use a deodorant? I have very heavy hair under my arms and perspire a lot so that no matter how often I bathe, unless I use such measures, I have B.O."

I see no reason why a man should impose on others in such matters any more than a woman should. We have come a long way from the days when it was considered vain for a man to take any interest in his figure or the way the barber cut his hair.

Today, even the most conventional man, has a valid excuse for watching his waistline because the length of his life has been definitely correlated with it. Overweight is a hazard, and to tell you the truth, I know from the mail that the self-respecting male has always had more interest in his personal appearance than he let on.

It was always a ridiculous idea that in order to be a he-man a man must acquire a baywindow and give not a whit about how he looked for his lady. In my book there are only four attributes a man needs for physical attractiveness; good posture, correct weight, vitality and good grooming.

When it comes to the personality angle, he can be magnetic or dull just as any other human being can be. When it comes to the use of deodorants and other grooming aids, yes, use them! Your friends, business associates, relatives and your little lady will be much happier for it.

It seems strange, really, that men delayed so long in adopting their wives' and girl friends' meticulous grooming habits.

If you men would like to lose from seven to 12 pounds in 12 days' time, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for my tubby hubby diet. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

When rationing came in with the war they were forced to close or lower the quality of their bakery.

Mr. Burley is an ardent stamp collector and recently started the IOOF Cadet Corps with a library of stamp books. Mrs. Burley has been quite active in the Heard-of-Hearing Club in Victoria.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Hayes Wed In Double-Ring Ceremony

An attractive bride, Miss Sadie Townsend, became Mrs. Lloyd Hayes in a double-ring ceremony, Saturday evening, in First United Church.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Townsend, Lethbridge, Alta., and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hayes, Chilliwack, B.C.

Daffodils, narcissi and roses decorated the church for the ceremony performed by Rev. Moir A. J. Waters. Sam Swetman sang "Because" during signing of the register, accompanied on the organ by Mrs. J. Roberto Wood, who also played traditional wedding music. The bride's uncle, Frank Townsend, gave her in marriage.

A dainty lace jacket with Elizabethan collar and fitted, lily point sleeves was worn over the bride's strapless, ballerina-length gown of nylon lace, tulle and net. Tiny seed pearls etched a pattern on her satin headdress which held a chapel-length veil of net. She wore the groom's gift, rhinestone necklace and earrings, and carried a bouquet of red roses and white hyacinths.

As matron of honor, Mrs. Frank Townsend wore a gown identical to the bride's, in pale blue with blue headdress and bouquet of pink carnations.

James Featherstone was best man and the usher was Leo Lenner.

Guests gathered in McEwen's Rose Room (formerly Terry's) for the reception. Carnations and daffodils decorated the room and a three-tier wedding cake centred the bride's table. Frank Townsend proposed the toast to the bride.

The couple are living in Victoria.

AS WE LIVE

Adjustments Must Be Made Cheerfully

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

In life one cannot do just as one pleases. There are certain duties and responsibilities everyone is called upon to accept. A woman writes:

Hurlock

(Q.) "I believe that when two people get married, they should live alone and live for each other. You and many other columnists advise married people to open their homes to relatives, especially elderly ones, and even to the children of a wife or husband by a former marriage. It is very easy from your side of the desk to say this, but I know from experience that it is likely to wreck a marriage. I think married people should be free to live alone."

(A.) It would be ideal if they could, but such an arrangement is not always possible, especially when money is limited. Sometimes adjustments have to be made and made cheerfully.

If a marriage can be wrecked by having someone come to live in the home, it is certainly not on a very firm foundation. It shows that either the husband or the wife or both are held to their marriage by selfish love, not by the kind that makes a marriage live.

Most relatives, especially when they get along in years, would prefer to remain in their own homes. They dislike going to live with married children even more than the children dislike having them.

Similarly, most children hate having a step-parent. They resent the intrusion of a stranger in their family circle and they dislike being taken to live in a home where they feel they are unwanted.

A marriage based on a firm foundation can not only make these people happy, it can remain intact itself.

On the whole, I think the biggest burden in such situations falls on the wife's shoulders. She is the one who is at home most of the time, and it is her responsibility to make the person who has come to live in her home happy and comfortable.

If she is willing to do this, there will be a happy atmosphere in place of friction and things will move smoothly for all concerned.

Regional Meeting

On Sunday at Silver Bridge Inn, Duncan, V.I., members of five business and professional clubs on Vancouver Island will gather for a regional conference. Miss Jane Hall, regional director, will preside and there will be delegates present from Nanaimo, Courtenay-Comox, Port Alberni, Duncan and Victoria. Speaker at the conference luncheon will be Miss Margaret Clay, international vice-president of the BPW groups. An honor guest will be Miss Isabel Cummings, Ottawa. The conference is called to discuss business which will be taken up at the biennial national convention in Toronto in July and to elect a regional director for the next two years.

Dr. Glwadys Downes Speaks to Meeting

An interesting talk was given last evening by Dr. Glwadys Downes, guest speaker at a meeting of the University Women's Club. Her subject was "T. S. Eliot."

Mrs. A. J. Butterfield presided at the meeting. Mrs. A. H. Hall is convening the Scholarship Tea, to be held March 27 at the Oak Bay Beach Hotel. Mrs. A. J. Tullis moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. A. H. Hall for hospitality offered by the club to a group of students from University of British Columbia which attended the Legislature recently.

Plans were made for a regional conference of University Women's Clubs in B.C. to be held in Vancouver on April 10. Refreshments were served by Mrs. O. Bowes, Mrs. J. M. McCammon and Mrs. A. A. C. Harris.

The flavour stands out

New Instant-flavour Allsweet!

Here's taste with a 3rd-Dimension!

THE SECOND it touches your tongue you can taste New Allsweet's matchless delicate, natural flavour . . . delightful, deep, in full dimension! Quick as a bubble bursts, so to speak. It never lags. There's no waxiness to mask and retard flavour. New Allsweet's flavour is bright and clear from the very first taste . . . and the flavour lasts and lasts.

How it is accomplished

Part of the secret lies in the crystalline structure of New Allsweet. Instead of being flat, the flavour crystals are 3-Dimensional in shape . . . like many-pointed snowflakes. And these tiny crystals release their flavour instantly. This new crystalline structure plus a special emulsifying process brings you the delightful deep, full taste.

Workers' Plight Stirs Unionist

Plight of Hospital Insurance employees affected by BCHIS reorganization drew comments from a legislator and trade unionist Wednesday.

Some of the 320 whose BCHIS positions will be abolished will not have unemployment insurance coverage for a time. If their status is changed from "permanent" to "temporary" civil servants they'll have to wait 180 days before drawing compensation.

Thomas Gooderham called on Trades and Labor Council Wednesday night to investigate thoroughly the position of the affected civil servants.

In the Legislature, Rae Eddie (CCF New Westminster) scored the government for being "remiss" in not foreseeing the hardship the reorganization will impose on the civil servants.

IN TUNE WITH THE TIMES

By BILL PARKER

One of the easiest voices on Canadian radio and television these days belongs to balladeer Ed McCurdy.

Some time before Canada came into the world of TV, McCurdy was making a name for himself as a collector of old songs. His repertoire has grown steadily and today he is master of several thousand ballads, folk songs and western ditties.

Ed doesn't like to be classified as a western singer, although a good part of his library is filled with cowboy tunes. He is probably best known for such songs as "The Squid-Jiggin' Ground," "John Henry" and "The Blue-Tailed Fly."

He has played in many night clubs across Canada, has had his own radio program on CBC and has performed also in the U.S.A.

Ed is one of the all-too-few members of the entertainment field who is trying to preserve and promote the songs of early Canada.

At present, he appears each week on the CBC radio show "Trans-Canada Matinee" and on the Canadian TV program "Ed's Place."

Victoria choirs will be featured on the "Parade of Choirs" program commencing March 26 over CBU at 10.30 p.m.

On that date, the Metropolitana United Church Choir, under director Charles Palmer, will present a series of choral selections.

In following weeks the Victoria College Choir, directed by Roberto Wood; the Christ Church Cathedral Choir, under Graham Steed, and the Meistersingers, under Dudley Wickett, will take their turns in the "Parade of Choirs" spotlight.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

FRIDAY, MARCH 19, 1954

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—Tedious toil commenced to be replaced today with a chance to really get your own desires closer to yourself. Make sure you think out what you really desire, then act!

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—You've been having some very interesting happy times; it's time you got down to brass tacks in duties, obligations you've willingly assumed; much headway follows swift decisions.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Home and career interests have been holding your attention almost by force for some time, but now you have chance to get off to delights, fun, creative work that can bring fine returns.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)—All that dashing around you've been doing should have jelled into some definite viewpoints that you can take to all who are vital to your success for their approval, assistance.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—Money matters pretty much simmer now, giving you a chance to see how all your close ties, whether co-workers, relatives, neighbors feel about things; renew affectionate relations by being thoughtful.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22—After past month of stewing, fretting, thinking out relations with all others, you are now given the right to bring your conclusions into some tangible from. Make systematic plans for the future.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—All those worries, anxieties you've permitted to be part of your life for some time past can now be replaced by better agreements, deals, understandings with others, so be co-operative.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Friends, ardent supporters, devoted attachments have shown how your relationship with them can be improved in future; now it's your time to correct flaws, work hard for better understanding.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Conflict between public responsibilities, home duties, now resolves itself easily, dissolves into nothing by being cordial to all, entertaining charmingly those who have been piqued.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — You've been carefully examining your activities, have gotten some fine ideas how to improve all but you still have to secure approval of powerful person, which you can obtain today.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Early today complete business, financial transactions, then lift your sights to new avenues of expression, loftier means for serving your fellow-man as well as your own interests.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—Now that you know just where you stand with others, use the power at present yours to come to a workable, compatible method of bringing desired benefits to all concerned.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN FRIDAY . . .

Friday's child is one of those very fast-thinking children who will always have so many ideas that you will not know where to start in bringing the successful vocation into the young tot's life which is in your keeping; but if you will remember it has to be in some line where much pioneering and many changes bring the greatest amount of acclaim, then it will not be too hard for you to arrange that your progeny have a well-rounded education that includes all sorts of interesting as well as basically sound business courses.

1 Drowns, 6 Saved From Sea As Crew Bails Out of Plane
TAIPETH, Formosa (UP)—An air force officer drowned but six fellow officers were picked up from choppy seas today when they bailed out of a crippled C-119 flying boxcar over the Pacific.
The survivors had to battle rough seas in life rafts for four hours before a Chinese seaplane picked them up 117 miles east of Formosa and took them back to the island. They were treated at a U.S. dispensary for shock.
The C-119, en route to Formosa, from Okinawa, developed engine trouble less than an hour from Taipeth. The pilot ordered the seven passengers to bail out.
The pilot and co-pilot brought the plane safely back to Formosa on one engine.

Leader of Egyptian Women's Hunger Strike Collapses
CAIRO (Reuters) — Mrs. Doria Shafik, leader of the Egyptian women's hunger strike for women's votes, was taken to hospital today after seven days of fasting "until death."
She was the third to collapse today from lack of food. Two other women were taken to hospital from the press syndicate building here, where the women have been "squatting" in defiance of orders to leave.
The women had been living on orange juice, sugar and water.
The "Daughters of the Nile" have been lying on blankets in the building and have defied orders to leave.

COBBLE HILL—An appeal by George E. Bonner against his land assessment, based on the lack of recognition of an encumbrance on the land because it is in the E & N Railway belt, was refused in County Court at Nanaimo this week.
Judge L. A. Hanna said the application was not relative to the assessment, although Mr. Bonner claimed the encumbrance reduces the sale value of the land.

Navy Scientists Record 'Pings' For Sub Sounding

Scientists of the Defense Research Board, Pacific Naval Laboratory, have returned to Esquimalt aboard HMCS Cedarwood and the Canadian naval auxiliary vessel Ehkoli from a three-week research operation in Georgia Strait and Queen Charlotte Strait.

Object of the operation was to study the fluctuataion of sound transmission in the ocean. Over three-quarters of a million pings (or sound pulses) were transmitted from Cedarwood and recorded at Ehkoli.

Analysis of these records in the laboratory will take several months and will contribute to a better understanding of the sound phenomena which affect the efficiency of any submarine sound devises in use and planned for the naval forces.

Naval aspect of the operation was under the direction of Lieut.-Comdr. J. E. Wolfenden, commander of HMCS Cedarwood. Senior scientist was Dr. W. N. English. CNAV Ehkoli was under Fred Osborne, master.

Mothers' Aide Plan Enlarged By Red Cross

The Red Cross Homemaker Service, which assists in caring for children and homes during a mother's illness, will be extended to include cases of the Family and Children's Service, A. DeB McPhillips announced at a meeting of the Family and Children's Service board of directors Tuesday.

Chairman of the foster care committee, D. McDonald, reported that 228 children were in the service's care by the end of February.

Plans are now underway for a "sponsors' workday" at Sunshine Camp to ready it for the summer season. Fourteen Victoria service clubs which sponsored cabins at the camp will be asked to take part in the work party some time in May, it was announced.

VOL. 121, No. 66 * VICTORIA B.C., THURSDAY, MARCH 18, 1954 —26 PAGES PRICE: 5 CENTS SATURDAY, 10 CENTS

'BOO TO YOU, TOO,' SAYS ANNA

The lady with the face, voice, and mind all as flexible as an especially fast-moving brand of quicksilver told her success story to The Times today, and put it all in one short sentence. "Put me in front of an audience or a microphone," comedienne Ann Russell said, happily, "and I'll beat my gums for hours." Sell-out houses from coast-to-coast on her present tour prove that the audiences are delighted to stay put while she chatters, sings, mugs, twists, wiggles, gasps, gulps and giggles.

She'll be doing all that, and probably more as inspiration strikes her, at another SRO gathering in the Royal Theatre tonight.

Miss Russell is that rarity in the comedy field, a comedienne who is completely happy in her line of work. At first meeting, you get the impression her mother was frightened by Gracie Fields. An hour later, you haven't a clue what side has been saying, but you know it was terribly funny. (Times photos by Strickland.)

Yard Probes Notes Threatening Queen

OFFICIALS CONFIRM TOUR CURTAILMENT

BRISBANE, Australia (UP)—Queen Elizabeth's tour of Western Australia will be curtailed drastically because of the poliomyelitis epidemic now raging there, it was announced today.

Full details will not be made known for a few days, but reliable sources said it is certain no one will be permitted to shake hands with the Queen or the Duke of Edinburgh and they will not eat west Australian food. The royal couple will live aboard the liner Gothic rather than ashore. Only a few children will be allowed on the royal routes.

Brisbane turned out today to wave good-bye today as the Queen and her party took off for Adelaide at the end of their 10-day visit to Queensland.

Extra Security Measures For Gibraltar Visitation

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON

LONDON (AP)—Britain today ordered fullest security precautions against any terrorist attack on the life of Queen Elizabeth during her state visit to disputed Gibraltar May 10-11.

Letters signed "Falange Espanola" and threatening death for the Queen if she sets foot on Gibraltar soil have been received by British political leaders and newspapers.

Special agents of Scotland Yard and military intelligence have hurried by air to the rock to check on an estimated 8,000 Spaniards who cross the frontier daily from Spain to work.

Most of these workers are known to the authorities, official sources said. Security men have orders to investigate new employees.

Scotland Yard is investigating the letters.

The letters, about 12 in all, were written in red ink and signed "Falange Espanola," apparently intended to mean the Spanish Fascist organization. They were posted in London in the last six days to a number of members of Parliament, including former prime minister Attlee, and at least two London newspapers.

LETTERS SAID HOAX

A Spanish embassy spokesman in London said "we are quite certain that the letters are a hoax. If they were genuine, the signature would have been "Falange Espanola Tradicionalista y de las Jons," Labor Organization for Trade Unions in Spain.

"No Spaniard would have signed it 'Falange Espanola,' which is wrong."

Spain has protested against the Queen's visit to Gibraltar, claiming the rocky outpost guarding the entry to the Mediterranean is rightfully Spanish.

Scotland Yard also is investigating a letter threatening Lady Churchill, wife of the prime minister. It was received at 10 Downing Street earlier this week.

'Hi Louis'

When Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent returned by air to Ottawa Wednesday night from his world tour, 1,000 people were on hand to greet him and the most popular welcome was the one in the above caption. On leaving the RCAF plane St. Laurent draped Hawaiian lei around the neck of his wife while a band played "The Girl I Left Behind Me."

580,000-Member TLC Asks Ottawa For Lotteries

National Labor Body Puts Brief Before Commons Committee Today

OTTAWA (CP)—The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada today repeated demands for a government-sponsored lottery.

The 580,000-member labor organization suggested an amendment to the Criminal Code allowing the federal government to set up a national lottery. The proceeds, after prizes and administration, should be placed in government coffers instead of being used for a specific purpose, the brief added.

The TLC also recommended that labor organizations and service clubs be permitted to hold raffles and draws up to any amount which in the opinion of provincial attorneys-general are reasonable. The criminal law limits to $50 the value of raffle prizes.

The two recommendations were made in a 1,500-word brief prepared for presentation to the Commons-Senate committee on capital and corporal punishment and lotteries.

DON'T WANT RACKETS

Dealing with its proposal for higher prizes for raffles, the brief said: "We would not like to see any change in the law which would allow rackets to develop . . . our affiliated membership, however, desires the change we are recommending in order that responsible voluntary organizations may make greater use of raffles and draws in the raising of money for necessary and useful projects."

"We believe that the widely expressed desire of Canadians to participate in lotteries should be recognized and steps taken which will make it possible for our people to participate in lotteries legally.

Unions Move to Smash City Hall Secrecy

By ROY THORSEN, Times Labor Reporter

Charges that "the ugly head of facism" has appeared at Victoria's city hall predominated Wednesday night when a meeting of the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council moved to squash Mayor Claude L. Harrison's move for a "closed door" policy on city council matters.

The council (AFL-TLC) will join hands with the Victoria Labor Council (CCL), the city's other large labor group, and seek the support of other public organizations to stage a mass protest meeting against a "secrecy" by-law proposed by Mayor Harrison.

Some of the delegates favored placing a picket line around the hall immediately. But it was decided to call the mass meeting to obtain a wider expression of opinion.

"Failing any satisfaction there I would be glad to carry a placard in the picket line," commented Percy Rayment, secretary of the Trades and Labor Council.

Victoria Labor Council earlier told aldermen that if they support the by-law the council will go "all-out" to seek their defeat at the next election.

By-law would allow committees to hold meetings in camera, the mayor to "screen" communications and decide whether they should be aired to the public.

COPY TO PRESS

The meeting unanimously endorsed a resolution that all communications from the TLC to the city council in future be duplicated and one of each sent to the press.

Council gave the executive a free hand to organize the mass meeting.

"The by-law sounds like Nazi Germany," said Mr. Rayment.

One delegate thought that in giving the executive a free hand to go ahead in the matter "we should also supply them a couple of hand grenades."

Several members were of the opinion the mayor and council should be recalled. "We've lost confidence in them and should be able to demand that they get out," one said.

Mr. Rayment said that he had looked into the matter, but apparently there was no provision in the Municipal Act which would allow it.

CHANGE NEEDED

"Well, it's about time we had an act with teeth in it so we could get at people we don't want," declared a union delegate.

Victor Midgley, carpenters' delegate, saw the City Council as "an enemy of the people."

He added: "They are a worse enemy than the so-called communists because they're in the driver's seat and can do more harm."

"It is our duty to the public to take a stand in a matter of this importance," said Don Bushell, painters' representative.

"They'll put us under the iron heel as much as they can," he claimed.

One delegate classed aldermen as "running dogs" for the mayor. "When he barks they sit up and do his every bidding."

"When the ugly face of Fascism shows its face around as it is at the City Hall we should take prompt action to kill it," said Bushell.

DEWEY, LODGE, WAGNER ON FANATICS' LIST?

NEW YORK (UP)—Police today set up a tight security guard around United Nations delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., Governor Thomas E. Dewey, and Mayor Robert F. Wagner Jr., after being tipped that fanatic Puerto Rican Nationalists might try to kill them.

The tip came from official sources and said only that members of the same organization which shot up the House of Representatives in Washington March 1 were hatching a plan to kill important persons in New York.

More than 200 policemen were dispatched to Gracie Mansion, home of the mayor, and to the Waldorf Astoria Hotel and the Roosevelt Hotel, where Lodge and Dewey, respectively, were staying.

Fish Boat Radioactive 800 Miles From Blast

Japan Orders All Craft Operating in Area Of Hydrogen Bomb Test to Return to Port

TOKYO (UP)—A Japanese fishing boat, 800 miles from the test site when the United States exploded an earth-rocking hydrogen bomb last March 1, today was discovered to be radioactive.

The Japanese government promptly ordered all fishing craft operating in the Pacific at the time of the tremendous explosion to put into designated segregation ports where ships, men and their catch can be checked for radiation contamination.

Twenty-three Japanese fishermen, burned by a shower of radioactive ash which fell on another fishing boat 80 miles from the Marshall Islands test site, are under medical observation. Two are being given emergency treatment by U.S. and Japanese medical experts for severe burns.

Japanese fish markets are glutted with unsold tuna. Panicky Japanese have refused to buy the sea-food delicacy since the catch of one of the two fishing vessels was found to be dangerously contaminated with radiation poisoning.

WASHINGTON (UP)—Congressional sources said today the United States probably will enlarge the "hazard area" around the Pacific atomic proving grounds to guard against further mishaps.

They said the present prohibited danger zone proved too small in the record-breaking hydrogen blast at Bikini on March 1, and that a far more destructive explosion is scheduled for some time next month. Suggestions that the United States may be "running out of space" to test its hydrogen weapons although they are steadily growing in both destructive power and radiation effects.

McCarthy To Ignore Ike's Plea

CHICAGO (UP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy has defied White House pleas for moderation in congressional investigations and said his critics were trying to be heroes to a "jackal pack" snapping at his heels.

"I don't give a tinker's dam how high or low are the people in either party who are unhappy about our methods," the Wisconsin Republican said of his permanent subcommittee's investigations of Communism.

President Eisenhower Wednesday deplored "unwise investigations" and national hysteria at a Washington news conference.

Red Cross Fund Nears Mid-Mark

A total of $32,696 was collected by the Red Cross in Victoria up to noon today. The figure represents over 45 per cent of the $72,000 quota.

Officials at fund headquarters said many canvassers have delayed turning in their receipts in hope that their collections will make a last-minute spurt which will overtake the objective for a thrilling climax to the month-long campaign.

Canadian Troops Seized By Reds Returned Safely

OTTAWA (BUP) — Defense Minister Brooke Claxton said today two Ontario privates seized by Communists in the neutral zone in Korea Wednesday had been returned to the Canadian lines.

He said the incident was "routine."

"It has happened before," Claxton said.

Ptes. James A. Piercey, 24, of Toronto, and Douglas G. Phillips, 22, of Kitchener, were marched out of the neutral zone Wednesday by a Communist platoon after eight Red soldiers captured them in full view of a Commonwealth division spotters post.

"The men are back in our lines," the defense minister said.

"In that rough country it often happens that patrols get confused."

Trade Move Backed

GENEVA (Reuters) — The United Nations Economic Commission for Europe unanimously approved today a joint British-Russian resolution urging increased East-West trade.

11 BULLET-RIDDLED, MUTILATED

Survivors Blame Arabs For Massacre in Bus

JERUSALEM (UP)—A survivor of the massacre of 11 Israeli bus passengers said today a burst of gunfire caught the bus driver full in the face at a curve on a lonely stretch of road near Beersheba and that attackers then killed and mutilated the helpless passengers.

United Nations investigators conducting an on-the-spot investigation of the shooting were joined by Premier Moshe Sharrett whose government accused Jordan of the crime.

Miriam Lesser, 28, who was wounded, said "15 to 20 Arabs" opened fire on the bus which crashed against a hillside.

"Two men entered the bus firing weapons and pulled up passengers by the hair, turning them over to make sure they were dead and firing bullets into them," the Dutch-born woman said.

Israeli investigators claimed fingers had been cut from the half-naked body of one woman, apparently to get the rings she wore.

Two armed Israeli soldiers were inside the bus. The fact that they failed to draw their revolvers testified to the speed of the assault, Israeli officials said.

One of the soldiers, the second survivor, was suffering shock. Two of the dead were women.

EXPLODING SHELLS, ROCKETS

World's Largest Lighthouse Burns; 110 Years Service

GLASGOW (Reuters) — The Skerryvore lighthouse which guards the Atlantic approaches to the rock-strewn coast of Scotland was destroyed by fire and abandoned Wednesday.

The lighthouse largest in the world, was consumed by flames fed by exploding signal shells and rockets while its three keepers crouched on a narrow ledge praying the 158-foot tower would not collapse on them.

They were rescued after a 12-hour ordeal by a lightship sent to investigate Wednesday night when it was noticed that the famous light was in darkness for the first time in 110 years.

The three keepers, picked up uninjured, said they did not know how the fire began. They fought the flames with extinguishers but it quickly got out of control.

SPIRIT WAS WILLING BUT ECTOPLASM WEAK

400 Juliet-Hunting Romeos Find 904-Year Girl Out of this World

By DON BESS

HOLYWELL, Eng. (Reuters)—Just after midnight Wednesday, 400 ghost-hunters waited tensely in the ancient Ferry Boat Inn for a glimpse of Juliet Tewslie, 19, who hanged herself here in 1050 because a young woodcutter jilted her.

At the bar, seven psychic research workers fiddled with the latest ghost-catching gadgets. But the only spirits to materialize were the ones in the bottles.

Juliet's spirit was willing, but her ectoplasm was weak.

Anthony Cornell of the Society for Psychic Research insisted she had made a date with him for just after midnight, and he gave the folks some tense moments. He set up a ouija board—a gadget with letters of the alphabet around its edges. Four believers put their fingers on a wine glass, and, lo, the glass moved to letters, spelling out answers allegedly from the great beyond.

ARITHEMETIC FACULTY

If Juliet was manipulating the glass, it is clear that she flunked arithmetic back in 1050.

"When did you die?" Cornell asked the girl.

"In 552," she said.

She also took an eccentric view of religion.

When Cornell asked, "would you like to be reburied in sacred ground, instead of under the inn?" Juliet firmly said no.

At five minutes to one, Cornell said, "Now do try to materialize for the folks."

"Oh, certainly," Juliet said, brightly. "But could we please put out the lights?"

Everybody shuddered happily in the darkness. After five minutes, the wine glass on the ouija board spelled out, in effect, this communique:

"I'm trying, but I just can't seem to get into shape tonight."

Cornell and his aides draped a white sheet invitingly over a chair and bathed it in ultra violet rays.

Still no Juliet.

At 1.45 a.m. Cornell sadly confessed that it had been a "weak contact." "Too many people in the room," he said.

The ghost hunters went home disappointed. Not so the barkeeper. He couldn't remember such a good night for business.

WEBSTER'S CLASSICS KEEP HIS MEMORY FRESH

H. T. Webster, whose cartoons entertained millions for many years, died last year. But his personal view of life under such captions as "The Timid Soul," "Life's Darkest Moment," "The Thrill That Comes Once in a Lifetime," and many others, will live on in the minds of his fans.

To keep them fresh, the cartoons considered to be his finest have been selected and re-issued in a series known as "Webster Classics.' The Times, which has carried his cartoons while he was alive, has pleasure in presenting the classic series to its readers, starting today on Page 5.

Queen Will Get Extra Security

Britain Moves to Protect Monarch During Visit to Gibraltar in May

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON

LONDON (AP)—Britain today ordered fullest security precautions against any terrorist attack on the life of Queen Elizabeth during her state visit to disputed Gibraltar May 10-11.

Letters signed "Falange Espanola" and threatening death for the Queen if she sets foot on Gibraltar soil have been received by British political leaders and newspapers.

Special agents of Scotland Yard and military intelligence have hurried by air to the rock to check on an estimated 8,000 Spaniards who cross the frontier daily from Spain to work.

Most of these workers are known to the authorities, official sources said. Security men have orders to investigate new employees.

Scotland Yard is investigating the letters.

The letters, about 12 in all, were written in red ink and signed "Falange Espanola," apparently intended to mean the Spanish Fascist organization. They were posted in London in the last six days to a number of members of Parliament, including former prime minister Attlee, and at least two London newspapers.

LETTERS SAID HOAX

A Spanish embassy spokesman in London said "we are quite certain that the letters are a hoax. If they were genuine, the signature would have been "Falange Espanola Tradicionalista y de las Jons," Labor Organization for Trade Unions in Spain.

"No Spaniard would have signed it 'Falange Espanola,' which is wrong."

Spain has protested against the Queen's visit to Gibraltar, claiming the rocky outpost guarding the entry to the Mediterranean is rightfully Spanish.

McCarthy To Ignore Ike's Plea

CHICAGO (UP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy has defied White House pleas for moderation in congressional investigations and said his critics were trying to be heroes to a "jackal pack" snapping at his heels.

"I don't give a tinker's dam how high or low are the people in either party who are unhappy about our methods," the Wisconsin Republican said of his permanent subcommittee's investigations of Communism.

President Eisenhower Wednesday deplored "unwise investigations" and national hysteria at a Washington news conference.

Canadian Troops Seized By Reds Returned Safely

OTTAWA (BUP) — Defense Minister Brooke Claxton said today two Ontario privates seized by Communists in the neutral zone in Korea Wednesday had been returned to the Canadian lines.

He said the incident was "routine."

"It has happened before," Claxton said.

Pte. James A. Piercey, 24, of Toronto, and Douglas G. Phillips, 22, of Kitchener, were marched out of the neutral zone Wednesday by a Communist platoon after eight Red soldiers captured them in full view of a Commonwealth division spotters post.

"The men are back in our lines," the defense minister said.

"In that rough country it often happens that patrols get confused."

Red Cross Fund Nears Mid-Mark

A total of $32,696 was collected by the Red Cross in Victoria up to noon today. The figure represents over 45 per cent of the $72,000 quota.

Officials at fund headquarters said many canvassers have delayed turning in their receipts in hope that their collections will make a last-minute spurt which will overtake the objective for a thrilling climax to the month-long campaign.

Trade Move Backed

GENEVA (Reuters) — The United Nations Economic Commission for Europe unanimously approved today a joint British-Russian resolution urging increased East-West trade.

'Boo to You, Too,' Says Anna

The lady with the face, voice, and mind all as flexible as an especially fast-moving brand of quicksilver told her success story to The Times today, and put it all in one short sentence. "Put me in front of an audience or a microphone," comedienne Anna Russell said, happily, "and I'll beat my gums for hours." Sell-out houses from coast-to-coast on her present tour prove that the audiences are delighted to stay put while she chatters, sings, mugs, twists, wiggles, gasps, gulps and giggles.

She'll be doing all that, and probably more as inspiration strikes her, at another SRO gathering in the Royal Theatre tonight.

Unions Move to Smash City Hall Secrecy

By ROY THORSEN, Times Labor Reporter

Charges that "the ugly head of facism" has appeared at Victoria's city hall predominated Wednesday night when a meeting of the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council moved to squash Mayor Claude L. Harrison's move for a "closed door" policy on city council matters.

The council (AFL-TLC) will join hands with the Victoria Labor Council (CCL), the city's other large labor group, and seek the support of other public organizations to stage a mass protest meeting against a "secrecy" by-law proposed by Mayor Harrison.

Some of the delegates favored placing a picket line around the hall immediately. But it was decided to call the mass meeting to obtain a wider expression of opinion.

"Failing any satisfaction there I would be glad to carry a placard in the picket line," commented Percy Rayment, secretary of the Trades and Labor Council.

Victoria Labor Council earlier told aldermen that if they support the by-law the council will go "all-out" to seek their defeat at the next election.

By-law would allow committees to hold meetings in camera, the mayor to "screen" communications and decide whether they should be aired to the public.

COPY TO PRESS

The meeting unanimously endorsed a resolution that all communications from the TLC to the city council in future be duplicated and one of each sent to the press.

Council gave the executive a free hand to organize the mass meeting.

"The by-law sounds like Nazi Germany," said Mr. Rayment.

One delegate thought that in giving the executive a free hand to go ahead in the matter "we should also supply them a couple of hand grenades."

Several members were of the opinion the mayor and council should be recalled. "We've lost confidence in them and should be able to demand that they get out," one said.

Mr. Rayment said that he had looked into the matter, but apparently there was no provision in the Municipal Act which would allow it.

CHANGE NEEDED

"Well, it's about time we had an act with teeth in it so we could get at people we don't want," declared a union delegate.

Victor Midgley, carpenters' delegate, saw the City Council as "an enemy of the people."

If them letters threatenin' th' Queen are hoaxes, looks like all th' monkeys ain't in th' Gibraltar caves.

Government-Sponsored Sweepstakes Requested By 580,000-Member TLC

OTTAWA (CP)—The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada today repeated demands for a government-sponsored lottery.

The 580,000-member labor organization suggested an amendment to the Criminal Code allowing the federal government to set up a national lottery. The proceeds, after prizes and administration, should be placed in government coffers instead of being used for a specific purpose, the brief added.

The TLC also recommended that labor organizations and service clubs be permitted to hold raffles and draws up to any amount which in the opinion of provincial attorneys-general are reasonable. The criminal law limits to $50 the value of raffle prizes.

The two recommendations were made in a 1,500-word brief prepared for presentation to the Commons-Senate committee on capital and corporal punishment and lotteries.

Dealing with its proposal for higher prizes for raffles, the brief said: "We would not like to see any change in the law which would allow rackets to develop . . . but affiliated membership, however, desires the change we are recommending in order that responsible voluntary organizations may make greater use of raffles and draws in the raising of money for necessary and useful projects."

"We believe that the widely expressed desire of Canadians to participate in lotteries should be recognized and steps taken which will make it possible for our people to participate in lotteries legally."

'Hi Louis'

When Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent returned by air to Ottawa Wednesday night from his world tour, 1,000 people were on hand to greet him and the most popular welcome was the one in the above caption. On leaving the RCAF plane St. Laurent draped Hawaiian lei around the neck of his wife while a band played "The Girl I Left Behind Me."

Survivors Blame Arabs For Massacre in Bus

JERUSALEM (UP)—A survivor of the massacre of 11 Israeli bus passengers said today a burst of gunfire caught the bus driver full in the face at a curve on a lonely stretch of road near Beersheba and that attackers then killed and mutilated the helpless passengers.

United Nations investigators conducting an on-the-spot investigation of the shooting were joined by Premier Moshe Sharrett whose government accused Jordan of the crime.

Miriam Lesser, 28, who was wounded, said "15 to 20 Arabs" opened fire on the bus which crashed against a hillside.

"Two men entered the bus firing weapons and pulled up passengers by the hair, turning them over to make sure they were dead and firing bullets into them," the Dutch-born woman said.

Israeli investigators claimed fingers had been cut from the half-naked body of one woman, apparently to get the rings she wore.

Two armed Israeli soldiers were inside the bus. The fact that they failed to draw their revolvers testified to the speed of the assault, Israeli officials said.

One of the soldiers, the second survivor, was suffering shock. Two of the dead were women.

WEBSTER'S CLASSICS KEEP HIS MEMORY FRESH

H. T. Webster, whose cartoons entertained millions for many years, died last year. But his personal view of life under such captions as "The Timid Soul," "Life's Darkest Moment," "The Thrill That Comes Once in a Lifetime," and many others, will live on in the minds of his fans.

To keep them fresh, the cartoons considered to be his finest have been selected and re-issued in a series known as "Webster Classics." The Times, which carried his cartoons while he was alive, has pleasure in presenting the classic series to its readers, starting today on Page 5.
